Demonstrators Storm Regents Meeting for WSU-O Protest

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Bulldozing their way past a state patrolman, a Madison policeman, a state senate clerk and a shattered window, about 75 protesters burst into the monthly meeting of the Board of Regents of State Universities Friday and disrupted it for about one hour.

The students were primarily white University of Wisconsin activists protesting the suspension of 93 "black brothers" at Wisconsin State University Oshkosh.

They told the state board, which was acting on means to deal with the alleged destructors of WSU-O President Roger Guiles' office, that they were a "violent" and "totalitarian" board "representating the very antithesis of democracy."

Start Fact-Finding

They disrupted the meeting just as the regents were naming a former state Supreme Court justice to start fact-finding investigations of the Nov. 21 disturbance.

The protest had been arranged by the UW branches of the Students for a Democratic Society. (SDS) and the Wisconsin Draft Resistance Union, and included a bus-load of Oshkosh students, primarily black.

But almost all of the black students were orderly and no black student attempted to address the board during the demonstration, which lapsed into a one-sided shouting match.

Instead they watched while a number of demonstrators, including only one Oshkosh representative, shouted at the board.

Pushing Spree

The explosion into the hearing room came after a 30-minute pushing spree at the doorway between the protesters, and a Madison plainclothes policeman, the state patrolman assigned to guard Gov. Warren Knowles, and the chief clerk of the Senate.

The men stood in the doorway of the small hearing room already crowded with about 80 people attending the meeting. The demonstrators arrived just two minutes after the meeting began and immediately began chanting "reinstate the Oshkosh blacks," The regents sat quietly as University System Director Eugene R. McPhee tried to deal with the demonstration. He offered to admit a delegation of demonstrators and said that the entire group could not be admitted because of safety requirements.

The demonstrators protested that under law the meeting was "open" and that they must be admitted and the pushing began.

During the scuffling, one Madison reporter saw a demonstrator in the hallway don a leather glove and crunch his fist through the window next to the door, shattering glass into the hearing room.

The demonstrators demanded that the meeting be moved to the larger assembly chambers nearby. McPhee said that he had asked for the largest hearing room available and had been given it.

The meeting had been moved earlier in the day from the larger, newly remodeled, executive office reception room.

Broke Through

The students finally broke through, spilling the guards to the floor and bursting upon the regents.

When confronted, the regents changed their schedule to take action on the Oshkosh matter. The demonstrators again demanded a larger room and UW student Peter Neufeldt warned the board that the meeting would not be allowed to go on unless it was moved.

William Clary, head of the Oshkosh peace forum, told the board that "this meeting is the very antithisis of democracy. This meeting is not open and you are doing violence to the people of this state."

"This meeting is not only not democratic, it is as totalitarian as any country could be," said UW student Michael Rosen.

Special Agent

Rector, a Supreme Court justice 20 years ago, will report his findings to the regents. The appointment was made to remove Guiles from the investigation proceedings because he will be a witness.

After the investigation is made "we may very well refer the matter back to Oshkosh for action" but I don't think this performance today is going to help very much," said Regent W. Roy Kopp of Platteville.

Private Talks May Be Making Gains

Both Sides Remain Rigid In Public

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

PARIS (AP) — While negotiators at the Paris peace talks shadow box in public, many hope they might inch toward a Vietnam settlement in private, unpublicized meetings.

Both sides seem unbending in public statements, but they show signs of being less intransigent in private.

Diplomats hope this attitude will prevail after all the procedural disputes about status, seating and the shape of the conference table are hammered out.

Up to now negotiators have been wary about showing their cards in advance, and none of the four sides has said much about the actual substance of peace negotiations, such as conditions for a cease-fire, withdrawal of foreign troops and a political settlement in Vietnam.

Final Settlement

The allied and Communist positions on how to end the war are so far apart that few can visualize at this stage what a final settlement might look like.

The first objective of the talks in the coming months will be to define areas of common ground. But such definitions can be deceptive, and will not necessarily mark any progress toward agreement.

For example, all sides agree on the need to withdraw foreign troops from South Vietnam. But while the Americans and Saigon representatives think mainly in terms of North Vietnamese forces withdrawing, Hanoi and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front demand the withdrawal of U.S. and other allied troops.

Little Room

In their public statements, the opposing sides leave little room for compromise.

North Vietnam and the NLF have a rigid program calling for a Communist-dominated government of "national unity" in South Vietnam. This would kick out the present Saigon regime

Procedure Issue Settled, but Peace Negotiators Still Haggle on Seating

PARIS (AP) — U.S. and North Vietnamese negotiators have agreed on seven procedural issues for four-way peace talks, but they still can't agree on who will sit where.

U.S. officials said the seven points agreed on Friday by Cyrus R. Vance, No. 2 man in the U.S. delegation, and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Ha Van Lau, are:

—The first four-way session will be restricted to conference procedure.

—Each group will have a speaker.

—They will meet in the same room previously used for U.S.-North Vietnamese talks at the Majestic Hotel.

—The allied and Communist sides each may bring 10-12 persons.

—Business can be conducted in English, Vietnamese and French.

—Tape recorders will be admitted.

—Newsmen will not be admitted.

Vance and Lau each scored points in these procedural agreements, which left some leeway for individual definition.

The Americans see the speaker arangement as two spokesmen on each of two sides, one each for Washington, Saigon, Hanoi and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The Americans see the conference makeup as two delegations of 10 to 12 members each, while Hanoi views it as four delegations of five to six persons each.

More Reasonable

From the U.S. standpoint, Vance won the agreement to keep newsmen out of the first rule-making meeting. The North Vietnamese said they wanted the press admitted, but the Americans feel the Communists will be more inclined to reach a reasonable compromise without the opportunity to make public statements.

The shape of the conference table, although a seemingly trivial issue, is one which the rivals feel could be translated into a bargaining advantage later on. Consequently there has been no breakthrough on this point.

The Communists want a square table, whose equal sides would fit their claim that the NLF has equal status in a four-sided conference.

The United States wants two long tables each facing each other, to support its claim that the parley is composed of two sides. The allies do not recognize the NLF, which the Saigon government regards as an outlaw tool of Hanoi.

One possibility for a compromise would be a round table, although some diplomats said this would not prevent delegations from spacing themselves to appear separate.

A six-man South Vietnamese delegation, led by Ambassador Pham Dang Lam and supervised by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, left Saigon today in a chartered Boeing 707 jetliner. They are scheduled to arrive in Paris Sunday after stops in Calcutta, Karachi, Teheran and Athens.

President Nguyen Van Thieu and a host of officials saw them off. Five F5 jet fighters piloted by South Vietnamese escorted the jetliner toward the sea.

Thieu told newsmen the delegation "will bring to Paris our will for peace."

Besides Ky and Lam, the delegation members were Nguyen Xuan Phong, who formerly ran the government's defector program; Vuong Van Bac, and Mrs. Nguyen Thi Vui, both lawyers, Nguyen Ngoc Hui, a professor, and Nguyen Trieu Dan, chief of the South Vietnamese delegation to the International Control Commission.

Strict security measures marked their departure. Newsmen were searched and troops guarded the airport.

'Significant' Actions Reported

461 Violations by Communists of DMZ Counted Since Start of Bombing Halt

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today American reconnaissance uncovered at least 461 indications of enemy activity in the demilitarized zone since the United States stopped bombing North Vietnam Nov. 1.

Only 36 of the sightings revealed what the command termed "significant" enemy action. But 128 were serious enough to warrant retaliatory fire from American planes, artillery and warships, the command said.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. negotiator at the Paris peace talks, said earlier this week there was a clear Johnson ordered the bombing halt that serious negotiations could not continue if the enemy abused the DMZ or shelled major cities.

Radio Hanoi charged today that U.S. warplanes bombed an agricultural cooperative and a hamlet in North Vietnam Dec. 3, killing more than 30 North Vietnamese.

The report by the "Commission for Investigation of U.S. Imperialists' War Crimes" claimed American planes have made seven bombing raids against North Vietnamese provinces since Nov. 1, and artillery and naval guns have fired 81 rounds at targets in the Vinh Linh area.

South Vietnamese headquarters said today there have been 122 shellings of provincial capitals and district towns since Nov. 1. Fifty-six civilians have been killed and 498 wounded in the attacks.

Most of the population centers reported shelled also are military centers.

Friday Incident

U.S. headquarters said three significant incidents occurred in the southern portion of the DMZ Friday when American artillery silenced a machine-gun emplacement and pounded two North Vietnamese troop positions in the zone.

A military spokesman said airborne and ground observers spotted groups of 31 and six North Vietnamese soldiers, and artillery blasted the target positions. The spokesman said the enemy troops threw up a smoke screen, and observers were unable to see if any troops were killed in the barrages.

There were no reports of major ground fighting in South Vietnam today. Military spokesmen said South Vietnamese infantrymen, backed by American helicopter gunships, killed 39 enemy soldiers and captured 10 others in fighting 24 miles west northwest of Saigon. No allied casualties were reported.

Daily Raids

Military spokesmen said American B52 bombers continued their daily raids against enemy strongholds north and northwest of Saigon. Twenty-eight Stratofortresses dropped 720 tons of bombs on Viet Cong base camps and supply depots within 30 miles of Saigon, the spokesmen said.

In Paris, deputy chief U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance and his North Vietnamese counterpart, Col. Ha Van Lau, reached agreement Friday on seven procedural points for the first expanded peace talks session.

It will be restricted to procedural debate; the allies and the Communists each will be allowed to have 10-12 delegates; there will be two spokesmen on each side, or one speaker for each of the four participating groups; the session will be held at the Majestic Hotel, scene of prior U.S.-North Vietnamese talks; business can be conducted in English, Vietnamese or French; tape recorders will be admitted, but newsmen will not.

The date of the first conference and the shape of the conference table still have not been agreed on. The latter is viewed as a major issue because both sides feel it may be translated into a bargaining advantage.

Problems to be Heard

Governors Assured Of Nixon Support

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has assured Republican governors that they will get a sympathetic hearing on state problems in Washington.

He met singly and in groups with them during their annual conference which winds up today with election of a new chairman. Nixon was reported to have pledged his full cooperation in strengthening the role of state houses in government.

Most frequently mentioned to replace retiring Gov. John H. Chafee of Rhode Island as chairman were Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, Daniel J. Evans of Washington, the Miami Beach, Fla., convention keynoter, and Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania.

Two Leaders

Indications were the governors would pick a chairman for 1969 and a vice-chairman who would take over the job in 1970.

Governors who conferred with Nixon reported he listened sympathetically to suggestions for improving state and federal relations but made no specific promises.

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press assistant, said the president-elect conferred with 24 of the governors or governors-elect Friday, talked "in the most general terms" of the cabinet he will name, and said he would consider the future course of the GOP political organization after completing major appointments to the government.

In a bow to Purple Heart-wearing Vietnam war veterans sprinkled through the fashionably dressed audience, the president-elect said they have proved that the American spirit is not faltering.

Great Sacrifices

"If we ever had any doubt about the American spirit, you have renewed it for us. Your sacrifices have been a great inspiration to our spirit and we are going to be worthy of them," he told the veterans.

Governors apparently found out nothing definitive about the future status of national chairman Ray C. Bliss. There have been reports that Nixon is considering replacing Bliss.

Governors gave the national chairman warm applause when he spoke to them at a conference session.

Evans disclosed that he had made known his willingness to appoint a Democrat to succeed Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., if Nixon wanted to name the senator as his secretary of defense.

Didn't Want Job

But sources close to the president-elect said Jackson has indicated he didn't want the cabinet job.

Gov. George Romney of Michigan said he knew nothing about fresh reports that he might be named secretary of transportation, a post for which Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts previously was reported to be in line.

Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the vice president-elect, disclosed at a news conference that Nixon had designated him to screen sub-cabinet job requests the governors may make of the new administration. He said this would not bypass the Republican National Committee or Nixon's own patronage people and would apply only to gubernatorial requests.

5 Paralyzing Strikes Called By Italians

ROME (AP) — Italian labor unions today called five major strikes to paralyze sections of the nation before Christmas as three political parties prepared to join forces in a new coalition government.

Spot general strikes to demand contract and wage improvements were scheduled Dec. 9 in the Calabria region of Southern Italy; Dec. 10 in Sardinia; Dec. 11 in Sicily; Dec. 12 in the Emilia and Puglia regions, and Dec. 13 in the Abruzzo and Tuscany regions.

The unions said further strikes to run through the first week of the new year would be announced later.

Nailing down final planks of the new center-left platform, Premier-designate Mariano Rumor emerged from bargaining sessions and said, "It is my intention to end the negotiations Saturday."

Delegations from Rumor's Christian-Democrat Party, the Socialist Party and the Republicans were expected to report to their party directorates today to win approval of the program and a list of Cabinet members.

If all continues according to Rumor's plan, he should be able to present the program and Cabinet for Italy's 25th postwar government to President Giuseppe Saragat in three days.

Pearl Harbor Remembered Aboard Arizona

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — America remembered its fighting men killed during the Pearl Harbor attack 27 years ago with a special memorial service today at the USS Arizona memorial.

Representatives of the National conference of State Legislative Leaders were among those at services on the gleaming white memorial which straddles the sunken battleship.

Legislative Plaque

Normally the only memorial programs held aboard the white monument are on Memorial Day. But Secretary of the Navy Paul R. Ignatius granted special authorization for today's rites.

John L. O'Brien of the Washington state House of Representatives, president of the legislative leaders, presented a plaque to Rear Adm. Fred E. Bakutis, commander of the 14th Naval District, Pearl Harbor.

The plaque, which will be placed in the Arizona memorial's museum area said:

"To the men of the U.S. armed forces who died on Dec. 7, 1941: In peace you served as our defenders; in battle our protectors; in death, our reminder that liberty is our greatest strength. We salute you."

A Marine, Cpl. Phillip Salmon of Muskogee, Okla., and a sailor, Boatswain's Mate 1.C. Paul Whittleton of Wedgefield, S.C., carried a large white carnation and lavender orchid floral wreath to O'Brien and Stewart Lamprey, incoming president of the legislative leaders. Lamprey is president of the New Hampshire state senate.

Flowers on Water

The floral display was dropped in the waters over the sunken battleship. The rainbow-colored oil rings, which still surface from the submerged vessel, blended with the floating wreath.

The legislative leaders attending the ceremony included delegates from every state as well as Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The 15-minute ceremony closed with the firing of three volleys by the Marine Corps riflemen and the playing of echo taps. There were no speeches.

The Arizona rests in 38 feet of water at the bottom of Pearl Harbor. The monument over it was dedicated in 1962. More than 222,000 people visited the memorial so far this year.

A large marble wall in the shrine room of the memorial is engraved with the names of the 1,177 Navy and Marine Corps officers and men who were killed in the attack. There are 1,100 men entombed in the sunken ship.

W. J. Reberg, Fox Valley Bus Pioneer, Dies

Started Inter-City Service to Compete With Trolleys

NEW LONDON — Funeral services for William Reberg, 73, route 1, a pioneer in Fox Valley bus transportation, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Emanuel Lutheran Church.

Reberg died Friday after a lingering illness.

He pioneered bus transportation in the state when he started the Jin-Jittney Line in Racine in July of 1916. He also started a line between Racine and Milwaukee, but inadequate roads made it impractical.

Went to Appleton

After completing his tour of duty in World War I, he went to Appleton and started a bus line in 1920 with service from that city to neighboring communities.

Reberg's line was the first to give continuous service between Appleton and Kaukauna in competition with the traditional street car. In 1923 the service was extended to Kimberly. The line ran until 1929, when it was incorporated with Fox River Valley Bus Line.

Reberg served as president of the lines from 1929 to 1943. He moved to New London in 1930 and purchased an interest in Inter-County Motor Coach Line, Inc., which operated between Appleton and Clintonville. The line was later extended as far as Shawano. He sold his interests in 1951.

Held Long Associations

He was a 50-year member of the American Legion post at New London, the New London World War I Barracks, the Waupaca County 40 et 8 and a life-member of the military order of The Purple Heart.

He served on the Emanuel Church council for three years and is an honorary member of the church's Men's Club.

Friends may call at Cline-Hanson Funeral Home, New London, after 2 p.m. Sunday. Military rites will be conducted at Floral Hills Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, a sister and three brothers.

Court Grants Two Divorces

Cruel and inhuman treatment was charged in two divorces granted in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

James M. Rueckl, 26, 710 Ninth St., Menasha, was divorced from Shelby Jean Rueckl, 22, 1028 W. Commercial St., Appleton. Married Jan. 7, 1967, they had no children.

James A. Williams, 48, 409 Maes Ave., Kimberly, was divorced by Alyce Williams, 51, 110 Buchanan St., Appleton. They were married Oct. 28, 1967, and had no children.

Property settlements were approved by the court in both divorces.

Faith Schedules Third Service for Loyalty Sunday

In order to accommodate the large attendance for loyalty Sunday at Faith Lutheran Church, the church has scheduled a third service this weekend, set for 8 p.m. tonight. Sunday services will be at 8 and 10:30 a.m., as usual.

The services will begin with a processional of the congregation, including the children, who will go up to the chancel and place their 1969 sealed pledges on the altar.

Leaders of the congregation will meet at a 6 p.m. dinner today to receive final instructions on carrying the loyalty information into the homes of Faith members unable to attend. The Ladies' Guild will serve the dinner.

Fred Froehlich, Charles Seter and John Turner will be soloists for the services. The Rev. Henry Simon, pastor, will give the loyalty review.

Divorces Granted In County Court

Three women were granted divorces in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 Thursday and Friday, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Joan Brost, 32, 1200 W. Roberts St., was divorced from Dale Brost, 36, 1905 N. Meade St., who was ordered to pay $600 per month support for the three children. The Brosts were married May 7, 1955

Robert L. Grimm, 30, route 1, Marion, was divorced by Shirley Grimm, 27, 324 S. Telulah Ave. They were married Oct. 5, 1958, and had four children. Grimm is to pay $45 per week support.

Ronald L. Murphy, 27, Fond du Lac, was divorced by Marian Murphy, 25, route 2, menasha. Married Aug 4, 1962, they had three children for which Murphy was ordered to pay $50 per week support.

Motorist Arrested Twice for Speeding, Fined $70 and Costs

A 22-year-old Appleton motorist who was arrested twice within an hour for speeding, this Friday was fined $70 and costs on three traffic charges.

Myrton T. Anderson, 920 W. Grant St., pleaded no contest and was found guilty of speeding 41 miles per hour in a 25 zone at 1 p.m. Nov. 15 in the 1400 block of N. Douglas Street; speeding 42 miles per hour in a 25 zone in the 300 block of W. Foster Street at 1:53 p.m. Nov. 15; and operating an unregistered vehicle in the 400 block of E Wisconsin Avenue at 9:25 p m Nov. 30.

The first speeding arrest was made with the assistance of radar equipment, while police were using their "speed watch" when they arrested Anderson the second time for speeding.

Hospital Association Will Elect Directors

New members of the board of directors will be elected Monday night when the Appleton Memorial Hospital Association holds its annual meeting. The meeting, in the hospital, starts at 7:30 p.m.

Highway Safety Post Advised

Project Director Job Would be Under Road Commissioner

Establishment of a county coordinator and project director for highway safety will be recommended to the Outagamie County Board by its executive committee in compliance with the national highway safety act.

Sgt. Stanley Arnold of the Outagamie County traffic patrol will be the temporary coordinator in conjunction with his duties in the traffic department although the position will be under the county highway commissioner.

The personnel subcommittee of the executive committee has been directed to write a job description for the position and to recommend whether a full-time director be named.

At present, no funds will be needed for the job, Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler told the committee. He said one of the early benefits from the action would be the reimbursement of $1,500 for sending four county patrolmen to the state patrol school for training.

A three-man committee will be named by board chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, to work with Emergency Government (formerly Civil Defense) Director Howard Rathbun to find someone to head a county Economic Stabilization Agency.

The agency function would be similar to the OPA (Office of Price Administration) which operated during World War II in the event of a nuclear attack on the United States.

The agency director, in turn would name rent control, price control and ration boards to function at the county level until the federal government could assume control.

Rathbun said the positions would be without pay and, except for the initial organization, would be completely separate from his office

Combined Locks Village Board Action Praised

COMBINED LOCKS — Members of the village board were surprised Tuesday night during a regular meeting when a citizen appeared to praise the action of the board which made Williams Street a reality.

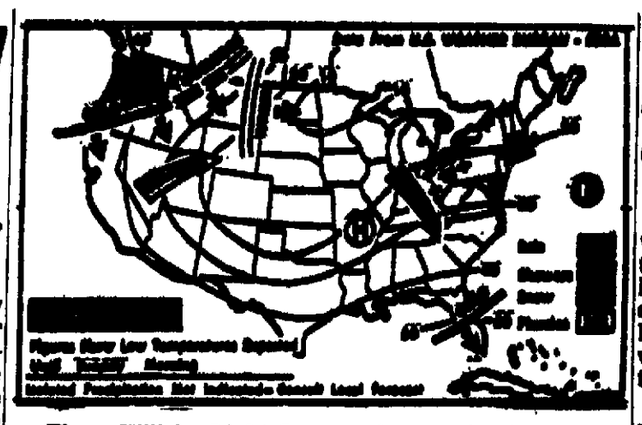

Mrs. John Opsteen asked to be heard before the regular business meeting. She promptly, on behalf of herself and her neighbors, expressed appreciation to the trustees and village president for their efforts on Williams Street.

Williams Street connects Elm to Wallace streets and eliminates considerable driving distance for people going to St. Paul Church or the post office. The street was completed about mid-summer and since its opening, has received ready acceptance and use. She told how she and her neighbors enjoy the convenience of the new street.

Trustees were hard pressed to remember the last time a citizen appeared to compliment them as a group on a village project.

KHS Dance Club Plans Yule Program

KAUKAUNA — A children's Christmas program entitled, "The Night Before Christmas," will be presented by Orchesis, the Kaukauna High School dance club, at 7 p.m. Dec. 14 and 2 p.m. Dec. 15 in the high school auditorium.

There Will be Light Snow and snow flurries in the central and northern Appalachians tonight and rain with snow in the northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest. It will be cooler from the southern Plains to the southern and central Appalachians and warmer in the northern Plains and northern Rockies. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Pregnancy Is Difficult If Cycles Are Unknown

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been trying to become pregnant for nine months. I also have trouble with my menstrual cycle, and sometimes don't have a period for as long as three or four months. Is it possible to become pregnant in these three- or four-month intervals? How do you go about figuring your fertile days? — Mrs. A.U.

You make no mention of having told your doctor of this problem, and you should. Hormone treatment sometimes can normalize the cycles.

As to becoming pregnant in these intervals of several months, yes, it is possible to become pregnant, but it will be very difficult to know when your fertile days will be. (With a regular cycle, the fertile period usually falls about midway between the beginning of one cycle and the beginning of the next.)

You must understand this: your periods are governed by the rise and fall of glandular activity which is intimately related to the release of an ovum or egg from the ovary.

Pregnancy is possible in the relatively brief time during which the ovum leaves the ovary and proceeds down a Fallopian tube to the uterus. If the ovum encounters a male sperm cell and they unite, that is the beginning of pregnancy.

If the ovum is not fertilized in this manner, then some days later the glandular system causes a menstrual period — that is, the surface of the uterus is sloughed off and a fresh one appears, ready for a fertilized ovum if one appears in the next cycle.

Thus you see that, when several months pass without a period, it also follows that for some reason no ovum has been released, either — not until a fairly short time before your next period does ultimately occur.

When the period occurs, it is easy to work backward and figure out just about the time when ovulation occurred. It is not so easy, with such an irregular cycle, to predict in advance when ovulation is going to occur.

The one method which might help would be to take your temperature (rectally) every day. When ovulation occurs, there is a slight rise in body temperature — about half a degree or so. It doesn't tell you in advance; it just shows when it is happening.

Temperature has to be read accurately. Further, it is possible for some minor illness, fatigue, excitement, or some such factor to cause a slight rise in temperature, which lends still more uncertainty

I repeat my advice: see if your doctor can't regulate your cycle by appropriate treatment.

Dear Dr Thosteson My doctor told me to cut down on fats but didn't give me a diet Do you have a booklet on it? — B.H

No Can't see any need for it Cutting down on fats means just what it says. When you eat meat, cut off any fat that you can see, and don't eat it. Don't eat fried foods. They are cooked in fat. Avoid cream soups. Or any soups containing fats.

If you eat lots of butter, cut down on it — spread it thinner, don't put gobs of it on your potato or other vegetables. Pastries contain fats. Avoid them. Avoid grease or fats in cooking. If you pay attention to those items, you can cut down your fat intake very considerably.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am thinking of taking up yoga and wonder if there are any bad side effects. Please discuss your views. — J.F.

I have no views on yoga except that, as I understand it, it is a form of self-discipline and relaxation. I don't know of any harmful effects.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them.' Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Mrs. Lawrence S. Guthu
(Marvel M. Hebert)
130 N. Badger Ave.
Age 70, passed away Friday at 9:20 after a brief illness. She was born May 21, 1898 in Sturgeon Bay and has lived in Appleton since 1921. Mr. and Mrs. Guthu celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary August 8 of this year. She was a member of St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church. Survivors include her husband, Lawrence; three daughters, Mrs. Clifford (Ione) Lembcke, Appleton; Mrs. Wayne (Lois) Mussett, Appleton; Mrs. John (Shirley) Nygren, Appleton; 10 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Frances Johnson, Appleton; one brother, Milton Hebert, Madison. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the St. Matthew Evangelical Church, with the Rev. Sylvester Johnson, officiating. Friends may call at the Valley Funeral Home from 3 p.m. Sunday until 10 a.m. Monday and then at the church until the hour of service. Burial in Highland Memorial Park.

Marvin J. Hansen
641 Hanson St., Neenah
Age 78. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Westgor Funeral Home, with the Rev. David C. Hinshaw, officiating. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Walter J. Petrie
Rt. 1, Clintonville
Age 70, died at 9 o'clock Friday morning at the Clintonville Community Hospital. He is survived by his wife; three sons; seven grandchildren; one brother and three sisters. Friends may call at the Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral Home, Clintonville from 1 p.m. Sunday until 11 a.m. Monday and then at the church. Funeral services will be held at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Symco, at 12:30 Monday afternoon with the Rev. Paul Mueller officiating. Burial will be at Oshkosh.

William J. Reberg
Rt. 1, New London
Age 73, passed away in New London Friday morning after a lingering illness. He was born August 15, 1895 in Petoskey, Michigan. He was a pioneer in bus traffic in Wisconsin and held one of the first operator permits to be issued in the state, which he received in July, 1916, in the city of Racine, to operate the Jitney Line. He also operated a line between Racine and Milwaukee until he entered the service in World War One. He served in the Army in France and was wounded, for which he received the Purple Heart. He moved to Appleton in 1920, where he operated the bus lines from the city to neighboring cities for 31 years. In 1920 he started the first bus line between Appleton and Kaukauna, in 1923 he started a line between Appleton and Kimberly giving ½ hour service until 1929 when he incorporated with the Fox River Lines in Appleton, of which he was president from 1929 until 1943. He moved to New London in September 1930 and purchased the Inter County Motor Coach Line, Inc., giving service between Appleton, New London, Clintonville and later extended it to include Shawano. He sold his interest in this business in 1951 when he retired. He was a 50-year member of the American Legion Post, New London, World War One Barracks, the 40 et 8 of Waupaca County, a life member of the military order of the Purple Heart, a member of the Emanuel Lutheran Church of New London, an honorary member of the church Men's Club and served on the Church Council for 3 years. Survivors include his wife, Edith; one sister, Mrs. Frederick Marquardt, Racine; three brothers, Fred, Casper, Wyoming, Rupert, Petoskey, Michigan, Ernest, Detroit, Michigan; four sisters and one brother preceded him in death. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Emanuel Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Frederick Heidemann, officiating. Burial in Floral Hill Cemetery, New London. Friends may call at the Cline and Hanson Funeral Home from 2 p.m. Sunday until 10:30 a.m. Monday and then at the church until the hour of service. Military graveside rites will be held.

Man Faces Trial For Tipsy Driving

George C. Gracyalna, 50, route 2, Appleton, will stand trial Dec. 18 on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

He was released on a $175 signature bond after pleading innocent Friday morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Appleton police arrested him Dec. 1 on N. Richmond Street after reportedly observing his auto being operated in an erratic manner.

Heloise

BY HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Friends:

Those old holidays are right around the corner and I'm already getting letters from mothers ('specially grandmothers), wanting to know how in this wide world they're going to get hrough all that cooking and dishwashing, with kids, grandkids, etc., coming to visit.

In our family when we have "get-togethers," the women gather in the kitchen and we all pitch in and do the cooking.

Each makes her own favorite dish.

One aunt is great at fixing dressing, mother making dumplings and breads, sister doing vegetables, sister-in-law cooking cakes and desserts and I bake the turkey.

The teenagers shell peas and husbands make the salad.

To me this is a form of communion. We gossip (woman-talk!) and have fun. Really it is. Sometimes we gals in the family don't get together often to talk with one another. Don't you just love to?

You learn all about Aunt Sadie, where Uncle Tom is living, that cousin Elmer married again and has a new baby, etc. Wonderful time to learn all about your great-grandparents, too.

The small children set the table and pull up the chairs. So what if they get the forks on the wrong side? This makes them feel as if they really have a part. Shared? You bet!

Then after that "ball" is over — and everybody is full of goodies and can eat no more. . .the teensters do the dishes! A la restaurant style. If there's enough kids, let them do it in shifts.

No trouble at all on anyone's part.

One year we all tried bringing a big dish of something while Mob fixed the turkey and dressing. That worked fine, too.

So this year don't let Mom do all the work. Remember, it's HER Christmas too!

Love,
Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Recently my dog had a swollen and inflamed throat and the doctor gave me pills for her. He remarked it probably would be difficult to get them down her and said, "That's up to you."

It occurred to me that ice cream would feel pretty good to her throat. So I mashed the pills fine and mixed each dose with vanilla ice cream.

She promptly ate it and was soon recovered.

Dear Heloise:

For those who have saved ribbons and bows from party and shower gifts and would like to use them for Christmas packages, here is an idea:

Buy small packages of glitter at the time store (red, silver, green, or gold) and a small tube of glue. Spread a little glue on the bows and sprinkle with glitter.

It sure perks up "second-hand" bows and ribbon, and you'll wind up with beautiful Christmas decorations.

Letter of Thought

Dear Heloise:

When you plan to tackle a big job (wash woodwork, wax floors, etc.), don't start it until you have straightened up the house, (picked up the newspapers and anything else that may be strewn around. Do the dusting and whatever else is your daily chore.

Then start on that big job. You'll be surprised how well this works. Just don't try to crowd too many big jobs into one day.

I've been doing this for some time now and find it most rewarding.

Mrs. F. S. P.

Dear Heloise:

Here's a tip office workers and school teachers may like to use.

For easier handling of papers when your finger tips get slick and dry, wet a small sponge with a few drops of glycerine and keep it in a dish or ash tray.

Touch your fingers to the sponge and rub a little of the glycerine into your hands. It keeps your fingers from slipping on the papers and a few drops of glycerine will last and keep the sponge wet for two or three weeks.

I buy it at our local drug store.

Necessity Is Mother of Invention

In your early years as a defender you are taught never to lead a suit that dummy can ruff. At best, you are doing declarer's work for him. At worst, declarer also may be void of the suit and may discard a loser while dummy ruffs. Nevertheless, necessity is the mother of unusual defensive plays.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

West leads the queen of hearts, and East overtakes with the king to make sure of leading the suit again. After East has won the second trick the question is what East should lead next.

If East is the average well-trained bridge player he will switch to a club. "Lead up to weakness," the books say, and dummy's only weakness is in clubs.

This is made to order for declarer. He draws trumps and then has tricks to burn. He scores game and rubber, not without a friendly nod to East.

Should Rise

If East is able to rise above his training he will lead another heart at the third trick. There is no need for East to lead a club if West has a sure trump trick.

If West has no natural trump trick, where can the defenders find their setting trick? Dummy's spades and diamonds are obviously impregnable, so that West's only possible trick is an overruff of dummy on a third round of hearts.

As it turns out, West can ruff the third heart with the nine of clubs, defeating the contract. If East is to get a friendly nod, it is better for him to get it from his partner than from an opponent.

Modern defenders should find the winning play quite easily. In the last 15 or 20 years the old-fashioned practice of leading the highest card of partner's suit has gone out of style. You lead low from Q-x-x. Hence, if you do lead the queen, you indicate that you have only one or two cards in the suit.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S- 10 9 8 4, H- A K J 10 6 3, D- 9, C- 8 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid four hearts. Do not use the Stayman Convention when you have a very powerful 6-card major suit and only four small cards in the other major. The powerful suit will make a better trump even if partner has four cards in the other major.

Your Problems

Division of Beauty, Brains Unpredictable

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I can't resist the temptation to comment on the problem Sid was having with his bride-to-be Doris. He became upset when he learned Doris had had her nose remodeled and had kept it from him. Sid expressed his anxiety to Doris' father over lunch — saying he was concerned about what their unborn children might look like.

Your reply, "Better the kids should inherit Doris' old nose than Sid's brains," reminded me of this true story.

When I was young I remember my father asking a very intelligent but homely uncle why he was going to marry a certain young lady who was extremely beautiful, but unbalanced. In fact, everyone who knew the girl said she was crazy. My uncle replied, "I want children who will be beautiful like their mother and intelligent like me."

My uncle and his wife had five children. Every one of those kids is homely like their father and crazy like their mother. — Paul L.

Dear Paul: No one can predict what the genes and chromosomes will produce. For people who wish to gamble, I recommend the horse races.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A couple years ago you printed a letter from a teenager who asked you to help bridge the generation gap in her house. She said her parents kept harping on how things were when they were teen-agers and this only made matters worse. After all, it's a different world today and everything has changed, including the teen-agers.

Your answer was the best thing I had ever read on the subject. I cut it out and pinned it to the bulletin board in the kitchen. It helped a lot in our house.

The clipping is getting ragged and hard to read. Will you please reprint your answer? I would love to have a fresh copy to pin up. Thank you. — Glad There's an Ann Landers

Dear Glad: Happy to oblige. Here it is:

Attention Parents or "Fellow Antiques": The one phrase that kids do not want to hear is, "When I was your age." In the first place, they don't believe you ever were. In the second place, they couldn't care less "how it was." They are concerned with how it is. Comparisons are not only boring, they are meaningless.

Your children are growing up in a different world than the one you and I knew. They have different problems, different pressures — and different parents. Teen-agers today have it easier in some ways, but their lives are much more complicated and frustrating in other ways. One thing is certain — I'm glad I am not in high school today. I'm not at all sure I could make it.

Theme will be "'Twas The Night Before Christmas" and the setting will be a typical grandmother's parlor on Christmas eve.

2 to be Tried on Morals Charges

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer Thursday afternoon scheduled arraignment for Dec. 13 for two young Appleton residents charged with morals offenses involving 13 and 15-year-old sisters.

Bound over for trial following preliminary hearings were Thomas Van Denzen, 22, and Gary S. Meiers, 18, both of [illegible] W. Oklahoma St. They are free on signature bonds. The youths did not enter pleas Thursday, following the closed-door hearings.

Meiers and Van Denzen were charged following investigation by Appleton police who said the morals offenses occurred Nov. 6 and Nov. 9 the teen-age girls, both junior high school students, testified Thursday.

Priest Tells Students

Conditions Indicate More Campus Protests Probable in the Future

More protests resulting from more protest - producing situations were predicted for the future by the Rev. Robert Brooks, a Norbertine priest - sociologist from St. Norbert College.

Speaking Friday on the myths, stereotypes and the future of dissenters, Father Brooks was the third in a series on speakers to give his views on "Social Upheavel Among the Young Adults", at a continuing education program at the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay's Fox Valley Center.

"There are about four reasons why we have protests today," he said, listing protest-prone personalities on campus, protest - promoting institutions, protest - promoting cultural climate and protest-promoting historical situations as the four variables.

Dissenters To Increase

"There is no reason to believe the world historical situation will get better and so, we can't expect there will be fewer dissenters on campuses," the priest said in looking to the future.

However, there tends to be a retrenching regarding the cultural climate, he added, citing his own Catholic church's situation which "rapidly seems to be marching into the 19th century."

Discussing the varieties of the dissenters, Father Brooks said that one big problem today is disspelling myths about themselves.

"One of the big myths is that all students are dissenters," he said, adding, "actually, most are majoring in apathy and only about 5 per cent on the campuses could be called dissenters."

No Stereotype

The second myth most people labor under, the sociologists explained, is that the stereotype dissenter is a bearded, foul-mouthed, sexually - free, drug taking Marxist."

"Some are, but certainly there is no one type," he said.

He listed the two types of dissenters, defined by sociologists, as activists and the alienated.

"The activist is one who participates in group activities, and demonstrations against some social injustice, not for personal cause," Father Brooks explained.

"The alienated, on the other hand, has given up on the system," he added.

He further explained to the group the differences between the two and stressed that there often was overlapping in some areas.

Committed To Ideals

"Basically, the activist is committed to some American ideals, tends to be opposed to careerism and the familism (self-enclosed suburban living, which is uninvolved with the rest of the world)," the priest said.

On the other hand, the alienated is a political pestsimist, who emphasizes the present and is inclined to turn to anything that will enhance the present, such as drugs.

"These, of course, will make him forget the past and the tomorrows and enhance and expand the present," he added.

Other differences between the two extremes listed by the priest included emotions, study habits and values.

"The activist is fairly healthy emotionally and is committed to study because he tends to value the academic society. He may use drugs, not to 'cop out' but rather to experiment. And oddly enough, he accepts political and social values of his parents in the end because if you examine his parents' background, you will find they often were liberal and rebellious in their youth."

Protester Types

The alienated, on the other hand, feel that the father has sold out to the establishment and has no hope of reforming anything," Father Brooks said.

In further dissecting the sissenter, the sociologist listed three types of protesters. The reformers, he said, were people who enter such groups as Peace Corps and Vista with the vision of helping others; the active protesters are involved in such groups as SDS, which are becoming increasingly militant, and the extremists and the young Marxists, Maoists and Castroites.

Surprisingly, both the activist and the alienated come from the same social strata — upper middle class — and are among the brightest students in school.

"Again, the only difference is that the activists do very well in classes because of their belief in the academic freedoms and intellectualism," he said.

Attend Best Schools

As an example of this, Father Brooks pointed out that the dissenters tend to go to some of the best schools in the country.

They evidently are satisfied with their education, but not with the structure. They resent censorship of any type, double standards, ROTC and unfair treatment of students," he explained.

In turn, he pointed out, more and more of the "protest-promoting institutions" are seeking these dissenters because of their desire to learn.

Lawrnce, he said, is one school which has attracted the academically excellent youth not only because of its reputation as a good school but because its administration tends to be liberal and gives the students a voice in its administration.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Dec. 7, the 342nd day of 1968. There are 24 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor.

On this date:

In 1787, Delaware became the first state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1808, James Madison was elected president.

In 1917, in World War I, troops of the 42nd Division—the Rainbow Division — arrived in France.

In 1931, President Herbert Hoover refused in Washington to receive a group of marchers protesting unemployment.

In 1946, more than 100 persons perished in a hotel fire in Atlanta, Ga.

In 1955, a monument was dedicated at Pearl Harbor to the more than 2,000 persons who died in Japan's surprise attack in 1941.

Ten years ago — West Berlin voters rebuffed the Communists by giving them only 2 per cent of the vote in a city election.

Five years ago—Four Americans were held by miners in Bolivia—as hostages for three labor leaders arrested by the Bolivian government.

One year ago—Antiwar demonstrators milled through midtown New York. More than 600 arrests had been made in three days.

Brillion High Plans Annual Winter Concert

BRILLION — The high school vocal department will present its annual winter concert at 8 p.m. Monday in the gym.

This year's concert will feature the seventh grade chorus, eighth grade Girls Glee Club, freshmen Girls Glee Club and the high school mixed chorus.

The only small ensemble will be the freshman triple trio comprised of Carol Konyha, Joanne Coisman, Terri Dexhimer, Wendy Piepenburg, Diane Schwahn, Beverly Tesch, Betsy Tamm, Vonita Enneper and Mary Vechart.

The high school chorus will sing a variety of numbers, both sacred and secular. They will feature several numbers acknowledging the great privilege is to be an American.

The highlight of the performance will be three numbers from the Messiah, sung by the high school chorus.

The concert, open to the public, will be free of charge.

New London GAA Members Attend Oshkosh Sports Day

NEW LONDON — Members of the senior high school Girl's Athletic Association (GAA) are attending the gymnastics meet today at Oshkosh.

The local GAA is considering organizing a gymnastics team, according to Mrs. Julie Herres, adviser.

New London will sponsor a volleyball sports day from 1 to 5 p.m. Dec. 14 at the high school gymnasium. Two teams will represent the participating schools — New London, Seymour, Iola-Scandinavia and Shiocton.

WSU-O Projects Survive Cuts in Building Budget

MADISON — Two building projects for Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh have survived a $6 million cut in the proposed $62.8 million state universities biennial capital expenditure budget.

The WSU-O projects approved by the subcommittee of the State Building Commission headed by Assemblyman David Martin, Neenah, include a $3.3 million geography classroom building and a $390,000 heating plant addition.

The subcommittee now will draw up a priority list for 35 projects it has suggested on the nine state university campuses.

Final recommendations will be presented to the State Building Commission in Madison on Dec. 19 and 20. A public hearing will be held when the joint finance committee of the new Legislature considers the capital expenditure and operating budgets, Martin said.

Jane Giesen Captures Honors by One Pin

CHILTON — Jane Giesen captured individual honors by rolling a 527 series in the Ladies Major Monday to nose out Theresa Reuman, by one pin.

Other top bowlers were Pat Neunig, 203-523, and Beulah Hawig, 500.

Dawn Scores 22

Chilton Wins, 76-51 Over New Holstein

CHILTON — The Chilton Tigers jumped off to a 23-13 lead at the end of the first period and sailed to a 76-51 victory over New Holstein in an Eastern Wisconsin Conference game played Friday night.

Chilton was never behind, and led by as much as 18 points at times in the first half, and 26 points in the second half. The Tigers blanked the Huskies in the first four minutes of the third stanza.

The Chilton front line controlled the boards throughout the contest.

The Tigers' Dick Dawn, took high-scoring honors with 22 points. He was followed by teammates Steve Bruckner and Bob Hanssen who accounted for 15 and 14 points, respectively.

Phil Depies led the Huskies in the scoring column with 12 points.

Chilton connected on 22 of 33 attempts from the line while New Holstein made 37 per cent of its charity shots, sinking seven of 19.

The Tigers now have a 1-1 conference record and are 3-2 overall. The Huskies are 0-2 in conference competition.

Illinois Wants Its Patrol Car Home Again

Anyone spotting a light green 1968 Plymouth four-door sedan with Illinois license number 5-2 should call the nearest police agency immediately.

The car belongs to the Illinois State Police, and they would like to have the auto back.

All law agencies in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, and Wisconsin were alerted by police teletype Friday that the unmarked state patrol car was stolen from Calumet City, Ill., about 4 a.m. Friday.

The message also wants that there is a loaded shotgun and shells in the trunk.

Prisoner Sent to Hospital After Suffering Stroke

A 58-year-old Appleton man who was being held in the Outagamie County Jail while awaiting trial on two forgery counts, suffered a paralyzing stroke in his cell early today.

Edmund H. Draeger, who lives at the Stokely Van Camp labor settlement on Casaloma Drive, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after a doctor examined him at the jail about 12:10 a.m. Authorities said Draeger's left side was paralyzed.

Draeger has been in jail since Oct. 31, under $1,000 bond. He is to stand trial Jan. 27 for two counts of issuing forged checks.

Hilbert Woman Gets Probation for Theft Of Sweater, Purse

Mrs. Loretta Stahl, 26, 26 N. Fourth St., Hilbert, was placed on one year probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services Friday afternoon after she pleaded guilty of stealing an infant's sweater and a child's purse from K Mart Oct. 26.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer also ordered Mrs. Stahl to pay court costs.

Pete Zarnoth's 223 Game Tops Brillion Bowling

BRILLION — Pete Zarnoth slammed a 233 game and Les Schaefer cracked a 232 singleton while Ken Piepenburg tallied a 605 series in men's National League bowling Tuesday at Koffarnus Lanes.

Other top series listed were Jerry Piper, 567; John Behnke, 564, Pete Zarnoth, 559 and Melroy Eickert and Bob McVey, 553.

Pete's Barbershop leads the league with a 28-14 record, followed by Romy's Bar and Bowl with 27½-14½, and Cmejla's Bar and El-Carole's Bar with 24-18 records.

Oneida Woman Denies Slapping Passenger After Auto Accident

Margaret John, 57, route 1, Oneida, pleaded innocent in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon to a disorderly conduct charge brought by Siiri Dobbins, route 1, Oneida, following an auto accident Nov. 23.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer set trial for Feb, 12 and Mrs. John was released on a $50 bond.

Mrs. Dobbins, who brought the complaint, alleged that Mrs. John slapped her face after the car Mrs. John was in struck the rear of the Dobbins car on Second Ridge Road in the Town of Oneida about 9 a.m. Nov. 23. The accident resulted in minor damage.

Sherwood Collects $52

SHERWOOD — A total of $52 was collected during the recent Calumet County Association for Retarded fund drive. Mrs. John Carney, Route 1, Menasha was chairman.

Youth Who Helped Parolee Flee Is Fined Total of $150

Marvin Roberts, 19, Woodlane Drive, New London, was fined a total of $150 and costs or 37 days in jail Thursday after pleading guilty to two disorderly conduct charges.

He had been charged with siding and encouraging a parolee, Gerald Mogulski, also of New London to abscond on Sept. 21. The charge was amended to disorderly conduct at the request of Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney.

Shiocton Police Chief Michael Reyes said that he took Mogulski into custody at the Portlite Bar. Mogulski broke free and jumped into a car driven by Roberts, who sped away. Reyes said a chase of more than 100 miles per hour ensued, but ended when Roberts' car struck a utility pole near Shiocton. The youths then fled on foot across a field.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer fined Roberts $100 on that disorderly count.

The other $50 fine was imposed after Roberts changed his plea to guilty on a disorderly count stemming from a disturbance with Outagamie County police in Shiocton in September.

Roberts reportedly was in a car involved in a hit and run accident. He became abusive while police were investigating the mishap.

The Homemakers' Hobby Club, Clintonville, contributed $15 toward the purchase of a $3,000 kidney machine which will be installed at Community Hospital. The check was accepted by Dennis Carter, assistant cashier at the Clintonville National Bank. Right of Carter are Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. Marlin Steinbach, club treasurer and president respectively, who presented the check. The presentation is watched by Mrs. James Bucher, a bank employe, whose husband has nephritis and requires use of the machine. (Laib Photo)

Lyle Harrison, president of the Clintonville National Bank, accepts a $500 check from the Clintonville Lions Club as a contribution towards the purchase of a kidney machine to be placed in the Clintonville Community Hospital. Making the presentation were Wilbur Voss, president, left, and Claude Chandler, treasurer. I-S, Marion Also Win

Comets Nip Weyauwega

John Holly stole the ball at midcourt and drove in for the winning layup with eight seconds left in the ball game as the Waupaca Comets (3-0) edged Weyauwega, 68-66, to gain sole possession of first place in the Central Wisconsin Conference at Waupaca, Friday night.

In other conference action, Iola-Scandinavia topped Amherst, 53-48; while Marion downed Manawa 59-47.

Waupaca jumped off to an early 5-0 lead, but the Indians had built up a 9-point margin by the second quarter. Waupaca came back to tie the game, 32-32, at the half.

Weyauwega (2-1) was ahead, 62-59, in the closing minutes of the game, but before the clock ran out Waupaca had evened the contest at 62-62. The score seesawed back and forth until Holly's field goal broke a 66-66 tie, to give the Comets the ball game.

Nolan Hits 27

Forward Jim Nolan was the high scorer for Weyauwega, collecting a total of 27 points. Mick Sannes and Chuck Forseth both dropped in 14 points for Waupaca.

I-S (2-0) battled both an overheated gymnasium where the temperature hit the mid-eighties, and the Amherst Falcons (0-2) and eventually wound up with a 53-48 victory.

Except for a brief 1-point lead in the third quarter, Amherst trailed the Thunderbirds throughout the entire game.

Ray Swetalla, Amherst's center, collected 19 of his team's 42 rebounds, and scoring 17 points. Mark Helgeson was high for I-S, with 12 points.

Iola shot a good 75 per cent from the free throw line hitting on 15 of 20 attempts. Amherst found the range on 10 of 18 for a 56 per cent figure. The Falcons out-rebounded Iola, 42 to 33.

Braun Hits 22

John Braun dumped in 22 points to pace Marion (2-1).

The Manawa Wolves never led in the ball game and trailed Marion by five or six points throughout most of the evening. Guard Bob Ferg was Manawa's top scorer with a total of 19 points.

Marion controlled the boards, almost doubling Manawa's rebounding, 49 to 25. Braun grabbed 22 rebounds for the Mustangs.

Manawa out-shot Marion from the charity line, scoring on 14 of 20 attempts for 70 per cent. Marion had 11 of 16 for a 68 percentage. The Mustangs shot 23 out of 51 from the floor, for a shooting percentage of 45.

St. Gregory Wins, 66-55, Over Indians

STOCKBRIDGE — Randy Meyer scored 23 points to pace St. Gregory to a 66-55 victory over the Stockbridge Indians in a game played Friday night.

St. Gregory had a 12-point, 38-26, halftime lead, but Stockbridge played a good second half, outscoring St. Gregory 15-12 in the third quarter.

Gary Carney was Stockbridge's leading scorer. He collected a total of 15 points.

The Indians have recently dropped out of the Kettle Moraine Conference. They plan to join the Eastern Wisconsin Conference next year.

Stockbridge High To Stage Annual Yule Concert

STOCKBRIDGE — "Old English Concert" is the theme chosen by director Norbert Franz for the annual high school Christmas Concert, scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday.

The concert will feature numbers by the Girl's Glee Club, the mixed chorus and band. Music will have an English flavor and includes carols, balads, and popular holiday songs.

Gail Goeser and Mrs. Gilbert Schoen will serve as accompanists and Michael Thiel the narrator.

During intermission and after the concert the high school Music Association will conduct a Christmas gift and decoration sale with proceeds going towards the purchase of instruments for the band.

Burns Kittens Drop First Pin Game in New London League

NEW LONDON — Burns Little Kittens victory skein was snapped at 25 by Wieners Four in Saturday Night Couples loop action at Golden Hour Lanes.

The loss was the first of the season for Burns which holds a 26-1 record. Wieners Four is in second place with a 17-10 slate.

Larson's Bar regained undisputed first place in the Good Fellowship league Monday by sweeping three games from Georgia-Pacific.

Golden Hour Lanes knocked Manske's Bar from a share of the lead by taking one game of the three game set.

Wayne Sawall topped individual efforts with a 552 for Larson's.

Kaukauna Art Class To Recess for Holidays

KAUKAUNA — Parents of students enrolled in the recreation department sponsored art classes are to arrange transportation for their youngsters on Dec. 14 when the students will bring home all projects completed to date, according to Mrs. Roger Belling, instructor.

No classes are scheduled Dec. 21 and 28, but the regular weekly meetings will resume on Jan. 4, said Mrs. Belling.

BABA Starts League Action This Weekend

MARION — The Badger Amateur Basketball Association will swing into its 23rd season this weekend with a full slate of games.

Seven teams will participate this year. They are New London, Curwood, Antigo Buds, Bowler, Marion, Weyauwega Chiefs, Manawa and Manawa Teachers. The Manawa Teachers and Weyauwega Chiefs are new to the league this year.

This weekend's schedule will see Bowler at New London, Marion at Manawa and Antigo at Weyauwega. The Manawa Teachers drew a bye.

A 12-game schedule is planned with a tournament of the four top teams following the regular season action. Last year Antigo won the regular season and New London captured the tournament championship.

Early Morning Fire Damages Rural Oshkosh Supper Club

OSHKOSH — A fire early Saturday at Josef's Supper Club, located at the intersection of State 175 and U.S. 45 several miles south of here, caused an undetermined amount of damage.

Members of the Van Dyne Fire Department responded to the alarm which was telephoned to the sheriff's office at 4:39 a.m. by an unidentified woman.

County police reported that the fire itself was confined to, on and around the bar but that the entire building suffered major damage from smoke and water. Fireman reportedly had to break through a side door of the building in order to reach the blaze.

Sentence Man For Bilking Motel Owners

Former Shiocton Man Used False California Address

WAUPACA — Thomas L. Steede, a former Shiocton area resident, is serving a 30-day jail sentence after pleading guilty to a disorderly conduct charge stemming from absconding from motels at New London and Manawa without paying.

He was unable to pay a $50 fine.

Steede used the name Jeffery A. Thomas, claiming a Los Angeles address, when he registered at the motels and appeared in court. His true identity was discovered through an investigation conducted by Under Sheriff Loren Frazier.

When it was learned Steede was a former Wisconsin resident his driving record was checked and it was discovered his driver's license had been revoked. He was returned to court Thursday and charged with driving after revocation and the disorderly conduct charge was revised to his correct name.

Steede denied the driving charge and trial was set for Dec. 12.

He was arrested by county police shortly after a police bulletin was issued for his arrest. Patrolman John Bonnell found Steede sleeping in his car on County Trunk X between New London and Weyauwega.

NFO Awaits President-Elect To Fill Promises

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gilbert C. Rohde, president of the Wisconsin Farmers Union, says agricultural organizations will be counting on Richard M. Nixon to keep a campaign promise to encourage farm cooperatives.

Rohde, in a talk to the Texas Farmers Union Friday, said Nixon's offer during the presidential campaign to improve the farmers' bargaining position must be greeted by farmers with an open mind.

"We can appreciate this call for a bold new world for cooperatives by some of the respected leaders in the cooperative movement," Rohde said. "But we don't believe U.S. farm cooperatives are strong enough financially, structurally or politically to 'deliver the goods.'"

Subcommittee Wants Guiles Out of WSU-O Fact-Finding

Regents Advised to Take Over Hearings From Involved Officials

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State University Board of Regents should take over the fact-finding procedures in the investigation of the black student demonstrations Nov. 21 at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, rather than leave it in the hands of involved local campus officials, a regents' subcommittee decided Friday.

The regents' education subcommittee voted unanimously to recommend to the full board that WSU-O President Roger Guiles be removed from the fact-finding procedure.

Guiles witnessed some of the events which led to the destruction of his office, said Regent W. Roy Kopp of Plattville, and should not be asked to appoint the fact-finders who are to make a determination about the events which took place. Guiles undoubtedly will be called as a witness in the suspension-expulsion proceedings against the students, said Kopp.

Legally Prejudiced

Guiles might be considered legally prejudiced in making appointments under the student conduct procedures, Kopp warned. Legal tests of the procedures are sure to come from at least some of the 92 students involved, he told the education unit.

"We want to have the opportunity to show any court that might become involved that we gave every student requesting it a fair and unbiased hearing," said Kopp, who is an attorney in private life.

Under the recommendation made by assistant Atty. Gen. Charles Bleck and special counsel for the board, E. L. Wingert, after consultations with university systems director Eugene McPhee, one or more special fact-finding agencies would be appointed to report directly to the board on the events of Nov. 21.

The board then would decide what further steps should be taken in proceeding with disciplinary actions.

Step by Step

"We're taking this in steps," said McPhee. "This is a fact-finding procedure and every step will be taken to get this process moving. When the report is in, action may be required back at Oshkosh," he said.

The student council had asked that action be started locally to insure that student conduct procedures would not be violated.

Kopp said that attorneys on the board have been worried about the legal tests expected if a campus president has been involved as a material witness in a case in which he also has a role in determining evidence.

"With that in mind we want to make it crystal clear to any court involved that we have taken every opportunity to avoid prejudice in the hearing procedure," said Kopp.

The recommendation will be presented to the full board later today.

Progress at Own Rate

Chilton Mathematics Head Views Individual Program

CHILTON — Michael Fitzpatrick, head of the high school mathematics department here, recently observed a mathematics program at Lakeland High School, Minocqua, that is relatively unknown in the country.

The program incorporates the advantages and opportunities of individual learning situations into an otherwise conventional school environment.

"The greatest value of the program lies in its abilility to provide the opportunity for students to progress in mathematics at their own rate. It is possible for some students to complete as many as five years of study in four years of high school while others make take as long as necessary to complete even a single year of mathematics," Fitzpatrick said.

Minimum Work

The variation in the progress made by individual students is the result of careful planning and the overall structure of the teaching methods used.

Each course is divided into daily minimum work requirements, a link of a king-size lesson plan, according to Fitzpatrick. The plan includes required daily work assignments, chapter review, chapter tests — both author and teacher developed — and standardized final examinations for the course.

Each student progresses independently from the other members in the same class and receives individual help when it is needed.

Grading Charts

Tests are given when each chapter is completed. If the required minimum score is attained the student continues on the next phase. If the desired score is not attained the student reviews the work and additional assignments are made at the proper time and the new test is given.

Progress is recorded on individual grading charts. When a student satisfactorily completed a course and writes the final examination the student is permitted to start the next course in the sequence, Fitzpatrick said.

If a course is not completed by the end of the year the points are recorded and the student resumes the course the following year.

The basic structure of the program can be worked into mathematics courses at all levels, Fitzpatrick said, as long as study materials are prepared in advance.

Of particular interest is the statistical report on the success and high level of achievement attained by students who have participated in this project over the years. The results are outstanding, Fitzpatrick said.

Fitzpatrick said the mathematics department is continually seeking suggestions and programs which might lead to improvements in the courses offered here. When such programs can be tried at a relatively low cost to the school district they are particularly interesting. "This program is an idea demanding more time and planning than money," he said.

Land Owners Get Permit To Clean Clintonville Pond

State Okays Request of 35 Residents

CLINTONVILLE — The state has approved a blanket permit allowing shoreline property owners to dredge material from the bottom of Pigeon Pond.

Basil Avery, Clintonville director of public works, announced that the permit had been issued at a press conference Friday. It covers 35 property owners.

The property owners filed application for the permit Oct. 28 in an attempt to improve the pond and their own property. The improvements will be at their own expense.

Level Bottom

The pond has been the subject of considerable controversy since July when the water level was lowered the level of the Pigeon River channel and a fish die-off occurred.

The permit, issued by the State Department of Natural Resources, requires that the property owners work be completed by Dec. 1, 1972. It also requires that the dredging lead to a level bottom and gradually sloping sides to the pond.

The property owners must also take precautions to avoid disturbance of river waters. Copies of the permit are being sent to each property owner.

17 Students on High Honor Roll At Marion High

MARION — Seventeen students have been named on the high honor roll for the first nine-weeks at the high school.

Freshmen led with six. They are Wayne Heiman, Patricia Mehlberg, Mary Meyer, Jeff Mielke, Edward Romberg and Grace Sturm. Seniors, with four, are Wendy Arndt, Bonnie Draeger, Ruth Reinke and Mary Uecker; juniors, Mike Mielke, Connie Niemuth and Mike Pocket, and sophomores are Beverly Buhr, Debra Klitz, Charlene Mehlberg and Mike Meyer.

A total of 14 seniors, 12 juniors, 9 sophomores and 5 freshman were listed on the regular honor roll.

Stockbridge Seniors Schedule Third Annual Fund Raising Supper

STOCKBRIDGE — Plans for the third annual spaghetti and meat ball supper Dec. 14 are being made by the high school seniors.

As in previous years 50 per cent of the proceeds will be donated to the Calumet County Association for Retarded Children, the balance goes to the senior class treasury.

Serving will be from 5 to 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room. Tickets are available now from class members.

Krautkramer to Lead Calumet Democrats Again

CHILTON — Ray Krautkramer, Hilbert, was re-elected to serve as the head of the Calumet County Democratic Party at a meeting Thursday at Hayton.

Serving as first vice president is Lloyd Gregoire, New Holstein, second vice president, Claude Mullenbach, New Holstein, and third vice president, Leroy Stauss, Kiel.

Mrs. Tom Forrest, Chilton, will serve as secretary and Mrs. Rosemary Fox, Chilton, treasurer.

Precinct committee appointments of poll workers also were made.

Nixon New Urban Program Puzzles City Administrators

Congress of Cities to Hear Agnew Discuss Current Problems

By William C. Carey
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW ORLEANS, LA. — How will the Nixon Administration handle urban problems, and what does the future hold for exisiting federal aid programs geared toward helping cities?

The two-fold question appears to be utmost in the minds of city officials from across the country who arrived here today for the opening of the 45th annual Congress of Cities.

Nine committee meetings were scheduled today as the more than 3,000 mayors, city councilmen and other municipal officials, got down to business.

President-elect Richard Nixon had been invited sometime ago to address the entire delegate assembly Monday and possibly provide answers to some questions hanging over his new administration.

Agnew to Speak

However, Nixon said he had a conflicting engagement and was sending Vice President-Elect Spiro Agnew to take his place.

During the presidential campaign Nixon said Agnew would oversee his administration's urban program.

Delegates are hoping Agnew may shed light on what policies the new administration will adopt or follow in assisting cities, large and small, with multi-complexed problems.

In the meantime, Congress delegates will participate in a series of workshops, panel discussions and hear other prominent speakers, along with coming up with the primary product — a 1969 national municipal policy — to be aimed at influencing legislation in the U. S. Congress as well as the state level.

Grass Roots Platform

"This policy will be the grass roots platform of city officials and the National League of Cities in Washington as the Nixon Administration and the 91st Congress begin their work," commented Mayor James Tat, Philadelphia, National League of Cities (NCC) president.

Much of the policy base will be forged during the weekend sessions.

Policy positions on such controversial subjects as revenue sharing the need for national urbanization policy and improved law enforcement will be introduced at the resolutions committee meeting Sunday, and debated finally by all delegates at the closing business session Wednesday afternoon.

Based on steering committee reports, debate will center around current topical matters existing in practically every community in the country. For example:

Discussion Subjects

Revenue and Finance — A specific revenue sharing proposal for channeling federal revenues to states and cities, based on a formula involving per capita payments and tax effort, will be introduced. And abuses of using public credit (industrial revenue bonds) for the support of industrial development will be aired.

Intergovernmental relations — The NLC delegates will be asked to oppose outright bloc grants to the states which turn city program discretion "over to uncertain state response".

Transportation — A federal trust fund, similar to the high-

Clintonville Receives $32,294 as Final State Income Tax Payment

CLINTONVILLE—City Clerk Lloyd Eggleston reported Friday that the last payment of 1968 state income tax of $32,294 has been received.

This check makes a total of $136,299 received for the current year. In the 1968 budget, the amount of the state income tax receipts was estimated at $122,000, or $14,000 less than the actual receipts.

State Dairy Animals Lose Final Judging

Wisconsin Entries Fail Last Judging At Chicago Show

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin entries were edged out of top awards Friday during judging at the International Dairy Show.

After grand champion Ayrshire ribbons went to Indiana and Maryland entries, Robert Seitz of Mukwonago, Wis., showed the reserve grand champion bull and female.

He also was named premier breeder and exhibitor.

In the Guernsey department, grand champion awards went to Indiana and Michigan animals.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams of Waukesha, Wis., showed the reserve junior champion bull. Their aged cow also took the reserve grand champion female ribbon.

Show directors are pondering the value of the exhibition's future. The show attracted fewer than 200 spectators Friday, compared with a normal turnout of the international beef show of 5,000 spectators.

Allen Hetts of Fort Atkinson was named to the show's board. He is an advocate of more expositions for dairy farmers.

AFS Is Planning New Year's Party In Chilton Gym

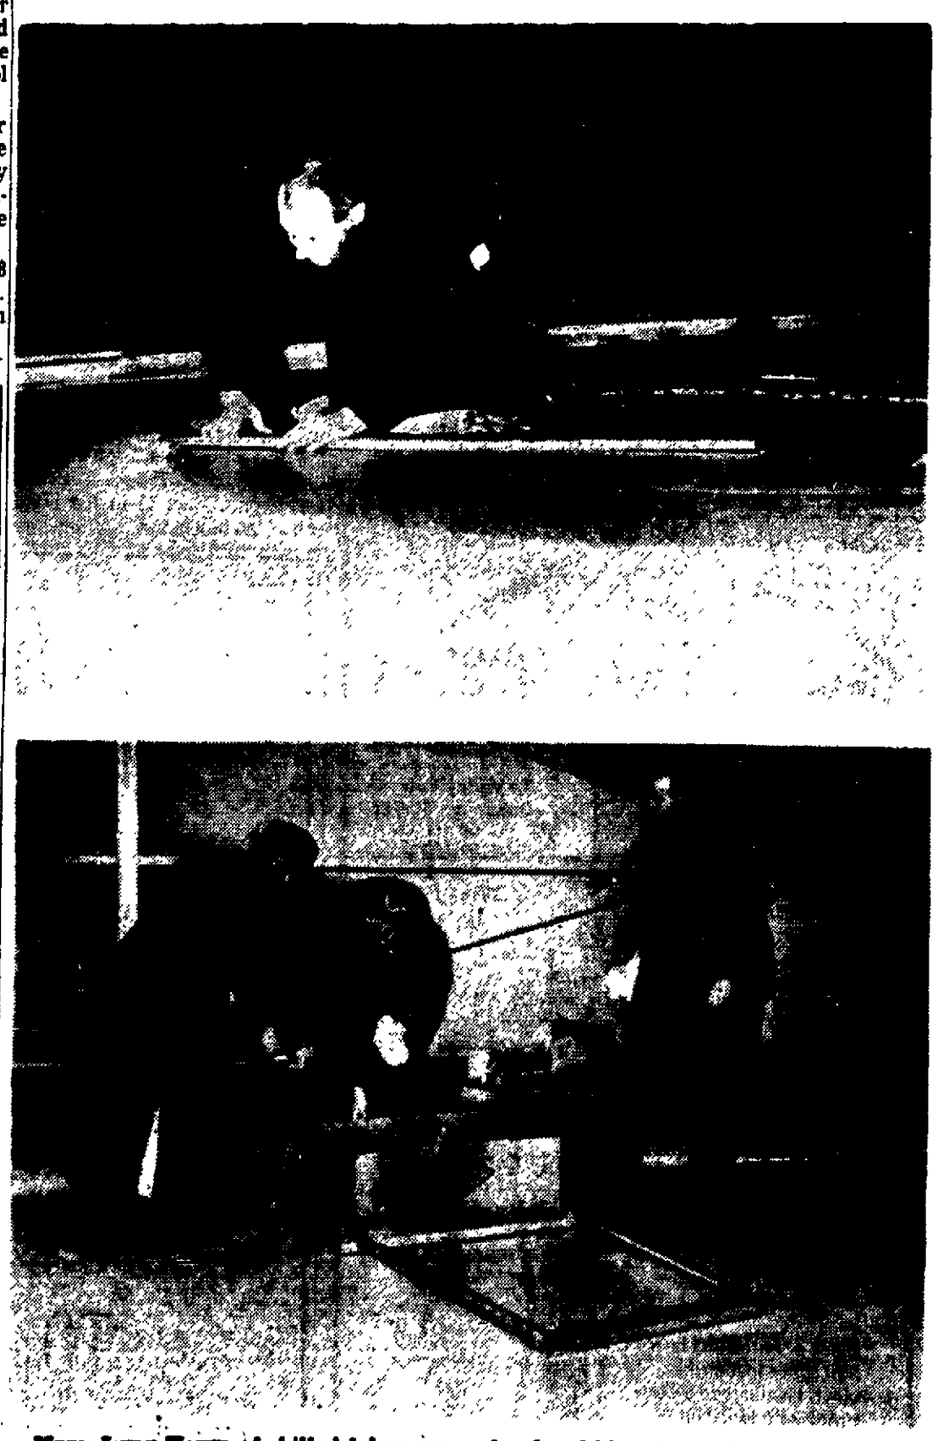

CHILTON — The American Field Service (AFS) chapter here is completing preparations for its New Year's carnival and dance Dec. 31 in the high school gym.

Activities will begin at 1 p.m. with carnival-type games of skill. Prizes include all sizes of tiger mascots.

A jukebox will provide music and refreshments will be available. There is no admission charge.

Dancing will begin at 8 p.m. As an added attraction a huge Chilton tiger will be awarded. The tiger is now on display in the high school.

In addition, each dance ticket holder will be presented a hat and horn to welcome in the New Year. Tickets may be purchased at the door for $1.75 or in advance for $1.50 at the high school.

Many Long Hours of skilled labor are required to prepare a curling rink. Ted Jirard, the icemaker for the Waupaca Curling Club, does a lot of the work himself and also supervises all of the preparation of ice. In the top photo he is marking the circles on each end of the ice. In addition to painting the entire sheet of ice white, the circles are painted red and blue. In the lower photo Norman Barrington and William Howard, club members, are using a metal and wood guide and a hand sprayer to paint the colored circles onto the ice as Jirard watches carefully. After the circles are painted, the needed lines will be frozen into the ice and the rink will be ready for play. (Post-Crescent Photos)

And It Looks So Easy!

Curling Rink Is Product of Experience, Skill

BY JOHN SAWALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — White ice and colorful markings on curling rinks are more than a casual installation but the work of a skilled icemaker.

When the coloring is placed it is called painting the ice, however, it is sprayed on under pressure.

A sheet of curling ice is 144 feet long and 14 feet wide and to keep this amount of ice frozen requires about a mile of refrigeration pipe. At the Waupaca Curling Club there are four sheets of ice and four miles of pipe keeping the temperature about 22 degrees.

Perfect Condition

Ice is naturally dark and colorless, the degree depending on the material underneath. To make it more attractive and aid in lighting, rink ice is painted white.

At one time the game was an outside sport which required players who were willing to brave all types of weather. The sheets of ice were far from perfect and were subject to sun and snow. Now rink ice conditions are closely controled and near perfect conditions maintained.

Pipes carrying the refrigerant are placed in fine sand which forms a base for the ice. About one-half inch of ice is built up over the pipes, then a mixture of water and whiting is sprayed onto the surface.

Flooding the sheets is the major duty of icemaker Ted Jirard, here at Waupaca, but when help is needed for painting the ice and marking the circles he is assisted by club members. To paint the four sheets of ice a crew of about 10 men worked for more than three hours. Each sheet takes more than 150 pounds of whiting to bring the ice to the desired whiteness.

After the whiting has been placed on the ice the surface is sprayed with water. This freezes the whiting onto the ice before the sheets are again flooded. If spraying is eliminated and the sheets are flooded the whiting runs and floats to the surface.

Marking and painting the circles on each end of the sheets is an exacting job. The outside red circle has a six foot radius, the inner blue circle has a four foot radius and the inner red circle has a two foot radius. From the center of one circle to the center of the other must be exactly 114 feet and the circle must be an equal distance between both sides of the sheet.

Circle Guide

Marking and painting the circles is done with guides which are placed in a hole in the ice that marks the center of the circle. A three to four man crew is needed to spray the colored mixture for the circles.

Metal and wood guides are used for laying out the circles. Coloring is mixed with whiting and sprayed onto the ice then sprayed with water to keep it from running during the next flooding.

Final step in making the sheet is placing the many lines into the ice, such as the back line, hog line, tee line and center line. The lines are narrow strips of ribbon which are frozen into the ice. After all of the markings and lines have been placed an additional one-half inch of ice is added. To build up the inch or more of ice requires between 15 and 25 floodings, depending on conditions. This year Jirard said the ice at the club here will require between 16 and 18 floodings because of the cool outside temperatures.

Making ice for a curling club is exacting but when the job is done to perfection, which is Jirard's goal each year, the efforts are appreciated by the curlers who will be playing on the ice for the remainder of the season.

Total Ministry for the Total Man

While their peers else- e in the auto capital were ming, "Daddy, get off my " Riverside's people, black white alike, faced the with optimism. They had ter way.

l they had the Rev. David ard, father of four sons, d, red-headed, crew cut ist who believes in ng within the system to gthen what is good and to e what is not.

sh out of Concordia Semi- St. Louis, in the spring of Eberhard was called to it's inner city to close side's 30-member parish, a orating congregation in a orating area. They told ot to unpack his luggage.

Brash Minister

the brash young pastor he earthy tongue was not to follow orders, despite bjections of 45 Missouri pastors in Detroit. ling the Word and follow- e admonition to "love thy or as thyself" were good of the system which strengthening. Joining h to suburbia and leaving eless and helpless behind l for themselves was the at needed change.

change it he did. Pastor rd literally pulled the forlorn congregation up by its bootstraps and made it mean something. The sense of urgency that permeates the Riverside atmosphere already was with him as he struck out to find ways the church could help people. "Now, now, now" was the cry. Tomorrow was too late for too many.

"The church is people," he said. The people, in desperate physical and spiritual need, were not in the church building, but out on the street. So that's where the church went. On Jefferson, Harding, Meadowbrook, Freud. Into the 15-square block area north of the Detroit River between Waterworks Park and the Chrysler Corporation's Jefferson Assembly Plant. The church reached out to the 12,000 people, almost half of them non-white, who were too old, too tired, too comfortable, or too poor to flee.

The area was and still is strangely unlike The Ghetto. The streets are relatively clean and sheltered by large, old shade trees whose roots tip up the sidewalk blocks to trip up unwary pedestrians. The homes, by inner city standards, are not bad. But the ghetto spirit hangs over them.

Welcome Committee

Sickness, poverty, alcoholism, drugs, exploitation, crime, dropouts, unemployment, family troubles, suicides, low achievement, lack of self-esteem, desertion, despair, depression, despondency, frustration, futility. This was the welcoming committee when the green young pastor and his bride moved into the second - floor parsonage above the nave of Riverside Lutheran Church, 521 Meadowbrook, in 1959.

Those problems still exist but a new element has been added. Now there is hope, brought to Riverside by a man who will try anything to help people and is not afraid to fail. That spirit rubs off. It rubbed off on Dave Vincson, 19, black, Roman Catholic, school drop-out, one-time resident of Lutheran Youth Village, a man with problems. He looks you straight in the eye and says, "I'm going to make it now. I'm going to make it whether anybody helps me or not." And you know he is.

Rev. David Eberhard is a dynamo! His untiring energy is a continuing example for his program of a "total ministry for the total man."

His basic concept of "It can be done" originated in 1948 when a serious accident during a Boy Scout outing nearly claimed his life. Another lad mistakenly struck him on the head with a hatchet. Doctors said he would never recover as the result of the head injury. But Dave Eberhard said, "It can be done," and it was!

Marching Ministry

Since that time, the doors of opportunity for spreading the Lord's Word have never remained closed in the face of Rev. Eberhard's marching ministry to people.

Rev. Ebersard is constantly fighting a battle with time. A sense of urgency surrounds his ministry. "Don't spend more time talking about it than doing it. We may not have another year, we may not have another day." Pastor Eberhard uses the love of God in his spiritual syringe to inject his people with courage to face another day. "The people of the inner city need the Gospel of Jesus Christ today."

Future involvement of Riverside in the Detroit community will include a seemingly impossible program, yet Pastor Eberhard says, "It can be done."

His dream is known as the Shopping Center of Human Concern - an $8 million 15 to 20-story complex that will provide physical needs for his people, while maintaining the church as the center of community life.

The church and its related ministry programs within the inner city require great attention. "It's a slow, hard, tedious process. . .keep with it. Sometimes you have to stick your neck out. Too much of Christianity has been pessimistic. Christianity says, 'The Lord still controls this world. He's in control!' "

Not everything Pastor Eberhard tries works. A lack of finances proved fatal for his dreams of a Lutheran restaurant-lounge and a private church-related, community school open to the public.

New Idea Born

When the Liggett School project died a new financial structure was born. Riverside Civic Fund, Inc. was created in 1966. This parent organization, with Pastor Eberhard as its director, has become a nationally-known, community-involvement program for the spiritual and physical betterment of mankind. Its future depends upon the continued involvement of all, the haves and the have nots, the influential and the down-trodden, the articulate, the average, the mediocre, the poor. All become a melting-pot in the Riverside program of total ministry for the total man.

The normal pastoral functions within the church are handled by the Rev. Larry E. Stier. During his vicarage year, Pastor Stier spent five hectic months at Riverside. That was 1962. He returned at Easter this year to take up where he had left off, after serving churches in Mount Sterling, Clayton, and Collinsville, Illinois. Pastor Stier, his wife, Carol, and their three children live just a block from Riverside. Says Pastor Stier, "The ministry at Riverside is very exciting and satisfying, a lot of counseling and I love it." Pastor Stier echoes Pastor Eberhard when he states, "The Church can't be Middle Ages, it must be 1968 in its functions and administration."

The Inner City Community Clinic perhaps best exemplifies Riverside's deep interest in the physical well-being of people.

The clinic began in Pastor Eberhard's office six years ago, with a medical doctor and an attorney. Now in a nearby, two-story, brick house, it has modern medical and dental facilities, counseling space, and above all, professional people who donate their skills for the betterment of their fellow man. Eighty doctors, dentists, lawyers, psychiatrists and counselors make one-night-a-month appearances at the clinic. The waiting room is always filled. Patients are asked to contribute a dollar to the clinic fund. If they have no money, they are not turned away.

There are no ethnic or religious restrictions at the clinic.

Riverside Community Housing Projects intends to purchase buildings adjacent to the clinic, remodel and refurbish them, then rent them to inner city dwellers who otherwise could not afford a decent home. Seventy such units will be within four buildings now under option to Riverside. In addition, eight dilapidated homes will be renewed. Ten units of industrial modular unit housing are under construction.

Day Care Centers

Lutheran Youth Village is a home for boys who have no families. They are usually between 17 and 20, must have a need and either work or attend school. Some attend Riverside Church, others do not, but all develop deep emotional ties with Riverside because it provides them an opportunity to "make it."

Day care centers function at Riverside and at Concordia Lutheran Church. The centers are licensed by the Michigan Department of Social Services. Some 50 children, 2½ to 5 years old, attend the centers, most of whom no longer know their fathers. Mothers are forced to work to maintain homes. The centers prevent child neglect. For many mothers, the $20 weekly charge is included in their Aid to Dependent Children grants.

The Co-op Store is just what it says, a co-operative effort on the part of people to help each other. It is the store that spells dinner when the table is bare, clothes when there are none, furniture when the room is empty, and a dignified uplifting when despair clouds the future. Savings are passed along to the economically forlorn of the Riverside community, bringing a small bit of joy into a world without much happiness. People know the church is for real.

A Drop-in-House, adjacent to the new Riverside Church, is not much to look at but it serves well as a place for youth and adults to "drop-in" for sociability.

People have accepted the Riverside ministry. They claim Riverside as "my church," although many are not members and many are not even Lutheran.

The Riverside program wouldn't work everywhere, but it works here. It's a strange mixture of politics, playing the power sources "like it is," bringing the love of Christ to people seven days a week, and doing it NOW while there is still time.

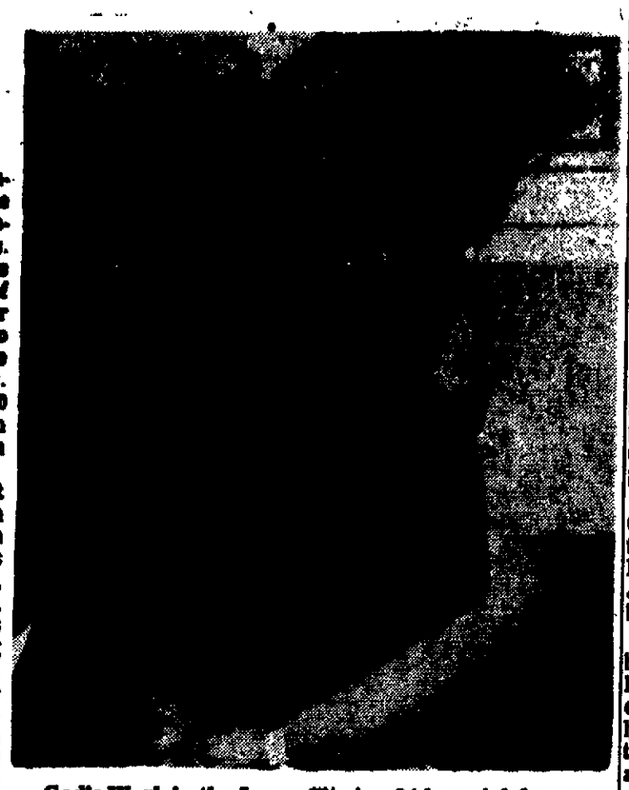

It's a neighborhood through which the suburban affluent drive to reach the Roostertail nightclub, where they pay a $4 cover charge to hear a comedian spout dirty quips.

They don't notice the bumper sticker on a beat-up auto owned by a side-burned Valparaiso University youth leadership trainee that says, "I Have a Dream."

They don't hear the quiet voice of Dave Vincson above the tinkling of the ice cubes in their highball glass when he says, "I'm going to make it now."

This article is reprinted from the 1968 winter issue of "Correspondent," official publication of Aid Association for Lutherans. The authors are David L. Brooker, former Post-Crescent city editor, and James Hoyer, formerly on the news staff of WBAY - TV, Green Bay. Both now are in the public relations department of AAL.

Pastor Stier, the associate at Riverside, is married to the formed Carol Busse, of Kaukauna. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Busse, 106 Tobacnoir St., Kaukauna.

God's Work in the Inner City is a 24-hour job because it involves a total ministry for a total man, not just his soul. This is a fact which has become a daily reality for the Rev. David Eberhard, right, and the Rev. Larry Stier, his assistant in Detroit's Riverside Lutheran Church. A pause in the active day only serves as time to consult tomorrow's calendar.

Book Written On Capuchin

Priest, Sainthood Candidate, Said First Mass in Appleton

The first book about a Capuchin priest who said his first mass at St. Joseph Pariah, Appleton, and may become a candidate for sainthood, has been published.

The Rev. Bernard (Solanus) Casey, a native of Wisconsin, is the topic of the book, "The Porter of St. Bonaventure's" by James Derum, a noted Catholic biographer.

Father Casey spent most of his life as a priest in Detroit. However, the book covers his entire life, starting with his early life in Wisconsin. It also details personal accounts of men and women who attribute physical and spiritual cures to the intercession of Father Casey.

Proceeds from its sale will be used to promote the Father Solanus Guild and further his work.

The Most Rev. John F. Deardon, archbishop of Detroit, will be approached in 1969 and asked to form a diocesan tribunal which will investigate the life of Father Casey in preparation of a cause or consideration for sainthood.

Is Democracy a Luxury?

Juan Bosch, former President of the Dominican Republic and leader of the Dominican Revolutionary Party, has announced his resignation from the party. But of greater impact are Bosch's statements that democracy is not for underdeveloped nations.

Bosch was deposed by a military junta only seven months after he took office after national elections in 1962. The charges of the right wing group were that Bosch was leading the Dominican Republic into communism. The United States intervened in a highly controversial military move in 1965 after civil war had broken out. It has never been satisfactorily demonstrated either that Communists would have won or that Bosch and his followers would not have led the Dominican Republic into the Communist orbit of Fidel Castro.

Bosch now says, in a series of letters from his voluntary exile in Spain, that democracy is a luxury in which developed countries may indulge but that it will not work in the underdeveloped areas. He peaks now of "dictatorship with popular support." And certainly the events in many underdeveloped nations serve to give credence to his words.

There is hardly a practicing democracy in all of Latin America, in black Africa, in Asia. Some which started out bravely fell into economic bogs. Others were ousted by right wing groups, often led by the military, on real or trumped up charges of communism and chaos. The lack of tradition in democratic processes, the tendency toward intrigue, the illiteracy of the bulk of the populations, have all contributed to the failures of democratic regimes.

In Woodrow Wilson's words, the United States fought World War I to make the world safe for democracy. But so far the great majority of people in the world have either not experienced that type of government or are totally unfamiliar with it.

Mr. Bosch is a highly emotional man and may be only trying to split up his own party so the more extreme wing, of which he is a member, may gain control.

But he may be quite right about democracy being only for the already stable and economically healthy nations.

Burma Makes Headway

The government of Burma has at last been making some headway against insurgents against the regime. Part of the reason is the confusion among Communists in the country and part is the government recognition at last that all insurgents are not Communists — or at least not yet.

China's chaotic Cultural Revolution found its way into Burma in the ranks of the White Flag Communists, formerly the leaders of left wing movements in Burma. Younger members began to act like China's youthful Red Guard and old leaders were ruthlessly purged with death by torture, the most popular way of terrorizing dissident members. Instead of making wide appeals to the population, largely disillusioned with the national government, the fanatical Communists became involved with destroying the old leadership. Many of the peasants switched their allegiance to the military government.

Meanwhile that government was acknowledging that rebellious Kachin and Shan tribesmen had been neglected and did have some reason to maintain ethnic and tribal allegiances. If rebels formally surrender their arms, they are then sworn in as militiamen and given back the arms. The government also quietly agrees to close its eyes to the lucrative smuggling from Thailand which is a major way of making a living for a lot of people in Burma. Although government troops have been largely withdrawn from rebellious northern regions because they don't have the manpower and are concerned about luring in more Chinese Communists, the northern rebels too have shown signs of withdrawing from any contact with the Communists. Even students, usually siding with left wing moves, have been appalled at the White Flag atrocities.

A major problem for most of the countries of Southeast Asia has been the aloofness of central governments from distant tribes and the refusal to acknowledge tribal differences or attributing all dissent to communism. The Burmese may have learned a lesson from the Indians on one side and the Thais on the other.

The Brain Drain Continues

One of the major problems of most underdeveloped countries and quite a few reasonably economically healthy nations is the "brain drain" to the United States.

Because there are superior facilities and faculties in many fields in the United States, many foreign students prefer to take their higher degrees in this country. There is a matter of prestige as well, especially from the less developed areas. But whatever the original motives, a great many of the students decide they don't want to go back home. Because of ability in certain fields or close relatives in this country, they can often qualify under our new immigration regulations for staying and becoming American citizens. The percentages differ from country to country - Taiwan loses more than 90 per cent of the students it permits to study abroad while Thailand gets the majority back again — but the problem is serious.

The result — and what will continue to be a cause — of the brain drain was demonstrated by the awarding of the Nobel prizes for scientific work this year. Americans won in every category — physics, chemistry, medicine and physiology.

There are a number of reasons why foreigners in higher fields of education want to live and work in the United States. The standard of living is obviously higher than in many of the poorer countries. Salaries for the scientist, the physician, the professor, are generally better. But perhaps the most important factor is the lack of government interference in research except as a stimulant. Some American educators may deplore the extent of federal influence upon research projects but there is still a freedom found in few other countries.

The "brain drain" is pretty good proof.

Gimbels Is Progress, but Same Is True for Schools

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

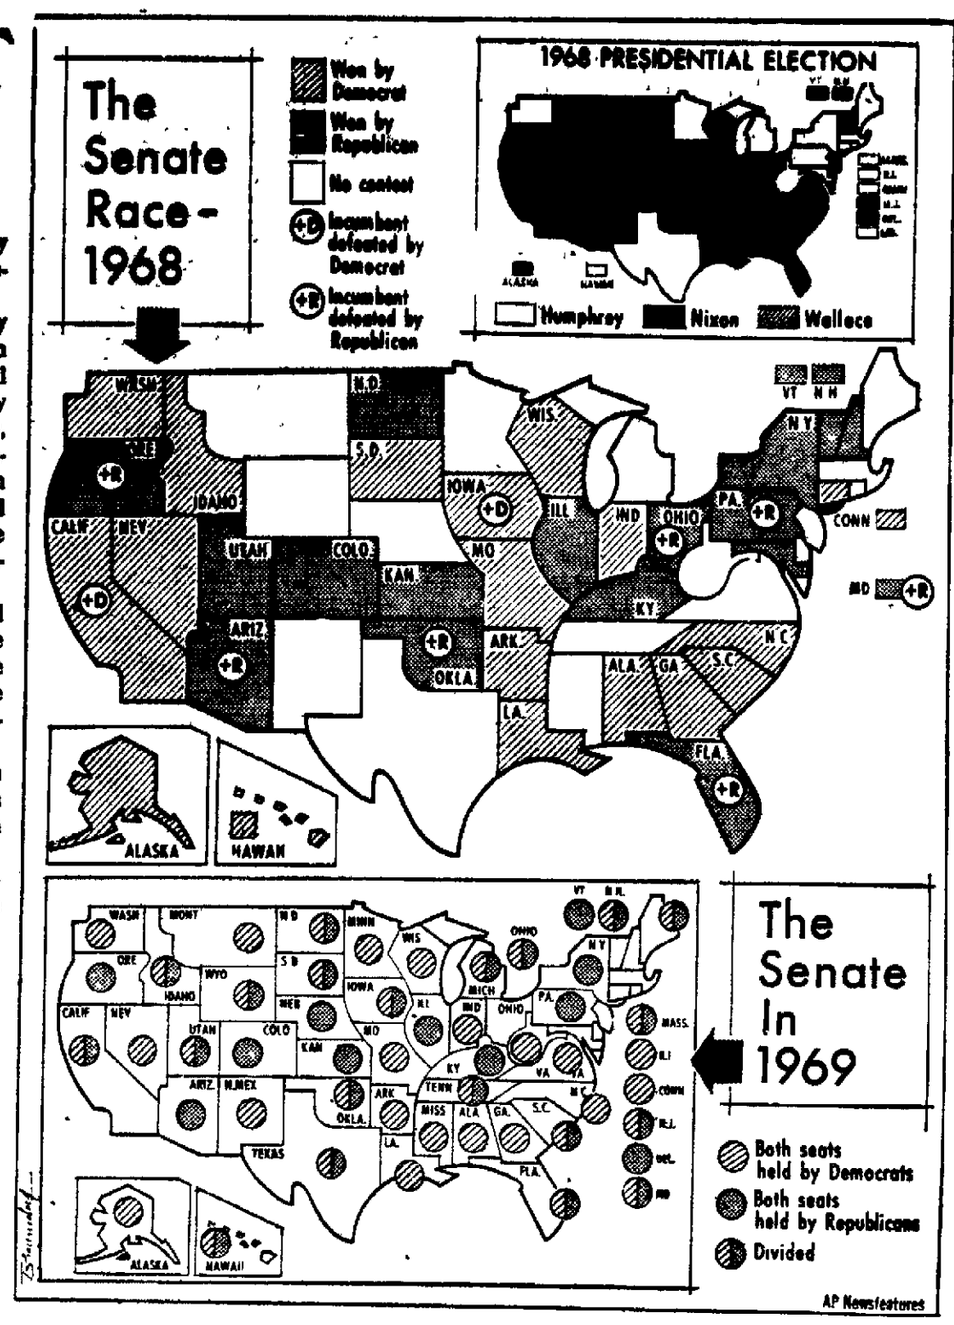

We compliment you, the City Council, the Chamber of Commerce and downtown businessmen on the announcement of the new Gimbels branch which will be built on College Avenue. Certainly this enterprise will increase prosperity in the Fox Valley and Appleton.

With the expansion and growth of business and industry which the Mayor and the City Council have rightly encouraged, the City of Appleton assumes greater responsibilities. The first of these is the maintenance and improvement of our public schools.

In encouraging new families to move to Appleton, the city must guarantee public education of high quality. For a city which is the center of the third largest metropolitan area in the state of Wisconsin, the rank of twelfth in tax rates for schools is simply not good enough.

We urge Mayor Buckley and the City Council to cooperate with our elected Board of Education in maintaining and improving the public schools of Appleton. The mayor's proposed cut of one million dollars in the school budget of 1969 jeopardizes the quality of education we expect for our children.

GOP Has Good Opportunity To Capture Senate Control in 1970

BY CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans gained a new total of five Senate seats in the 1968 election, leaving Democrats with a 58-42 majority that is their smallest in 10 years.

During the second Eisenhower administration, Democrats held a bare two-seat majority, before a 15-seat pickup in 1958 gave them 64 senators. Republicans have not controlled the Senate since the first two years of the Eisenhower administration, 1953-55, when they held a 48-46 edge.

But this year's GOP gains put Republicans in position to make an all-out drive to win Senate control in 1970, when 26 Democrats and just seven Republicans are up for re-election.

DEMOCRATS GAIN TWO

Republicans won seven seats from the Democrats this year, but Democrats gained two which had been held by Republicans.

These were in Iowa, where Democratic Gov. Harold E. Hughes defeated David M. Stanley for the seat of retiring GOP Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, and in California, where Democrat Alan B. Cranston defeated Max Rafferty, who had unseated Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel in a hotly-fought GOP primary.

Republicans unseated four Democratic senators. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker defeated Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, former Gov. Henry Bellmon defeated Sen A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma, Robert Packwood edged past Sen. Wayne L. Morse of Oregon and Rep. Charles McC. Mathias defeated Sen. Daniel B. Brewster of Maryland.

GOP candidates also captured previously Democratic seats in Florida, Ohio and Arizona.

In Florida, Rep. Edward Gurney defeated former Gov. Leroy Collins for the seat of retiring Democrat George A. Smathers. In Ohio, Republican Atty. Gen. William Saxbe defeated former Rep. John J. Gilligan, who had unseated Sen. Frank Lausche in last May's Democratic primary. In Arizona, former Sen. Barry Goldwater won the seat of retiring Sen. Carl Hayden by defeating Roy Elson, Hayden's longtime assistant.

DEMOCRATS RE-ELECTED

The following Democratic senators were re-elected: J. W. Fulbright of Arkansan, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, Frank Church of Idaho. Birch E. Bayh of Indiana, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Alan Bible of Nevada, Sam J. Ervin Jr. of North Carolina, Ernest Hollings of South Carolina, George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Warren G. Magnuson of Washington and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin.

Republican senators re-elected were Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Morris Cotton of New Hampshire, Jacob K. Javits of New York, Milton R. Young of North Dakota, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah and mont.

New senators, elected to fill seats previously held by their parties, included Democrats Mike Gravel of Alaska and Thomas Eagleton of Missouri, and Republicans Robert Dole of Kansas and Marlow Cook of Kentucky.

Democrats hold both Senate seats in 19 states, Republicans have both in 11 and 20 others are divided.

Teacher Wage Boosts Must be Reasonable

Editor, The Post-Crescent

The cost of living in Appleton has been rising sharply the past three years, in many cases faster than income. Our national government needs extra teax money for the Vietnam war. Social Security rates go up again in January. The pinch is on, and it's pretty heavy. On top of this, the city of Appleton has just completed and staffed several new additions and schools — badly needed — but new buildings mean additional operating costs. The teachers in our community have received a 33 per cent increase in salary in the past two years even though the cost of living averages were up something like 6 per cent per year. Perhaps this is well, as they were somewhat underpaid. But as a result our property taxes have been rising very steeply. Now they are asking for another substantial increase. Where will it all end? And, more important, how many families will be hurt, perhaps scarred by the loss of their homes, forced relocation, or other deprivation?

Our mayor is to be commended; he sees the problem and is doing his best to stem the tide. With great wisdom, he has demanded a "reasonable increase" in educational costs for the coming year, without stepping in and telling the better - informed school board where it shall be done. On the other hand, our school board has inherited a giant-sized headache, their hands tied by the substantial salary increases already achieved. I am very impressed with Mr. Buchanan and the other board members, and I feel we owe them much for the long, difficult hours of community service they are so devotedly giving us — all without compensation. It is the movement across our nation for collective bargaining for teachers, resulting in the substantial salary gains we are seeing, that is most responsible for the property tax problem. This negotiating is well and good when it corrects the inequities in a given community, as it is doing here in Appleton, provided the community can assimilate the costs. But can Appleton? Our problems are becoming critical.

What can we do? For this year, the only answer I see is the scaling down of educational program. As a family, we "pull in our belts" when the going gets rough. As a city, we must do the same. Let us support our mayor in his efforts. Those of us who can afford a 25 per cent rise in property tax owe it to those of us who cannot. This is the price we pay for caring about our city and its people.

As for the coming years directly ahead, I have been informed by the Wisconsin State Employment office that starting salaries of college graduates in business today in Appleton range from $400 to $600 mo. This would indicate that our present starting salary is quite generous for a 10-month work year. Perhaps now is the time to start thinking and planning for a 12-month teaching year for our teachers. Also, if we are not already doing so, we should reward our "career" teachers — those who have contributed 5 to 10 years or more to the profession — in some way, perhaps by placing them on an expanded salary scale. This is where the greatest inequities usually exist. As for the new request for $7500 base salary, a gain of another 15 per cent, I feel this is asking too much. We must encourage our school board to hold the line to moderate cost-of-living increases for the near future. If we are not competitive with other communities we should not be unduly concerned. Many other communities are reaching the breaking point, too, and will have to adjust soon in their own way.

I do not want to underestimate the value of our teachers. They have a tough job. They deserve our respect, our support, and our praise, but they too have a responsibility to the community in which they live and work. What hurts their community will eventually hurt them, too. Most of our teachers realize this and will bear with us. Perhaps I'm too idealistic, but I still believe that teachers are a special breed — that they are the kind of people who care as much about what they give to a community as what they can take out of it. If this is true, Appleton will not need militant demonstrations or teacher strikes to solve its problems. And we will be able to maintain a healthy emotional climate in our city.

U. S. Government Has Reneged on Its Promises to States

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Two can play at the game of blaming a higher level of government when financial difficulties confront officialdom, Gov. Knowles appears to be saying in his current public speeches and informal comments.

While the mayors of many of

the cities of Wisconsin, worried about constituent reaction to rising local tax bills, are scowling toward Madison and demanding state action to pour more state-collected tax dollars into local treasuries, the governor and his men are complaining about the underfunding or the lack of any funding whatever of some of the highly publicized and popular service and finance sharing programs ostensibly enacted by the Congress.

LOCAL SHARES RISING.

On the face of it, the governor may have a better case than some of the irate local mayors and city councils. For the record shows that the state has met its commitments. The record shows that the share of state-collected taxes returned to localities in direct aids or local tax shares has been rising steadily and has now reached the highest point in history.

Perhaps the total amount, which is about 60 per cent of all the revenue yielded by state taxes, is not enough to hold down the local tax rate. But the state has not promised anything that it has not delivered, which is something the national government cannot say.

In one department after another at the State Capitol today, discomfited state officials realize that bold plans they made for new programs under the assurance of additional federal money grants must be cut back or abandoned altogether because the financing the federal government said it intended has not been honored.

MATTER OF SEMANTICS

There is involved here a matter of semantics that makes state-federal relations somewhat more difficult for the man on the street to comprehend than the indignant claim of a local mayor that his tax rate is rising because of some delinquent fellows in the Capitol at Madison.

The semantical problem arises out of the distinction between an "authorization" of the U. S. Congress, and an "appropriation." When the Congress "authorizes" an expenditure, and it contains grants in aids to the states and through the states to the localities, state officials feel they have a right to accept the action in good faith. But time and again the necessary "appropriation," the actual enactment to cause the money to flow from the federal treasury, does not follow the "authorization," the promise implicit notwithstanding.

Perhaps the Congress has sufficient excuse for its failure to follow up the word with the deed, the Vietnam war budget, the national budget deficit, and other things. Yet the result is that it has repeatedly coaxed the states, and sometimes the localities, into expenditure commitments that they believed the national government would share, but in the end did not.

PROMISES AREN'T ENOUGH

No doubt one answer is that the states if they were prudent would not act on the promises implied in "authorizations," and withhold their own commitment until the appropriations are made and the money is in hand.

Yet the political temptation and the political pressures are strong in such fields as public assistance, education, highways, conservation, water pollution abatement and a host of other services.

In the same way the political stamina of local government officials, whatever they may say in their campaign pamphlets when they run for mayor or alderman, weakens under the enormous impact of expenditure demands for the civil servants, the police and firemen, the teachers and the many others, when the annual budget is painfully constructed. Defensively, the city halls fire their indictments at the State Capitol, hoping their constituents will believe that somebody else is responsible for their embarrassing predicament.

CONTINUES TO PAY

The man on the street observing such goings-on may recognize it as buckpassing to a considerable degree, in the language that he is most likely to use. But when he reflects about it for a moment, he will realize that he will pay, and pay again, in high federal taxes, higher state taxes, and slowly but painfully rising local taxes.

Majority of Catholics Back Teaching of Church

Editor, The Post-Crescent

The recent letter in the December 2 issue of The Post-Crescent questioning church authority has prompted this response.

It seems confrontation has become the desired tactic of a segment of the Catholic church. If reconciliation still must be the ultimate aim, it seems that the confrontation cannot be ignored.

Today, the most vigorous voices among Catholics have been voices of discord. Such dissidents have led in getting the attention of the secular press, television and considerable publicity even in the Catholic press. So vociferous has this voice become that some have almost been misled into thinking they constituted not a noisy minority but a majority.

The great predominance of Catholics do not expect their church to pander to their very whim. Christ did not do so! We would not respect our church if we found that it was permissive or that it compromised with evil. We do not maintain that religion consists in doing what is easy, but in doing what is good. To fall through weakness is one thing, but quite another to deny what is right. We look to the official authority of the church to teach us what is right. Catholics do not consider themselves their own confessor, nor does each of us consider himself a law unto himself. He who has himself for a theologian has a fool for a theologian.

The vast majority of Catholics loyally subscribe to the recent statement of well over one million members of the Knights of Columbus in this country. "Let the world know that it is the firm resolve of the Knights of Columbus to pledge anew their adherence to the pastoral direction of the Supreme Pontiff and the Bishops in all those matters pertaining to the benign discipline of Christian faith and of Christian morality, in consonance with the teaching mission entrusted by Christ to the Apostles and to their successors."

Costume Jewelry Made Easily From Plastic Soda Straws

BY CAPPY DICK

Bright-colored plastic soda straws can be turned into handsome costume jewelry if you follow these directions.

Start with a necklace like that in figure 1. Hold a bunch of straws in your hand, with the ends even. An inch from one end cut through all of them with scissors. Cut about 70 pieces, each an inch long.

Use Colored Straws

Thread a fine needle with stout black thread, doubled. Tie a big knot in the end. Pierce each straw as in figure 1, about an eighth of an inch from the end. Push the straws close together. When you have strung enough to go around your neck, tie another big knot, leaving enough thread at each end to tie the necklace easily. If you wish, you may trim the ends of some of the straws to make the effect shown in figure 2.

A bracelet requires a little more work. Cut the straws into three-quarter inch lengths. String them like beads on a piece of cord (figure 3. Forty pieces will be enough for a small wrist; use 50 for a larger wrist.

When the straws have been strung as in figure 3, restring them with the same cord and needle so they will be fastened together side by side as in figure 4. Fasten the two end straws together and tie the string, completing the bracelet.

When the straws have been strung as in figure 3, restring them with the same cord and needle so they will be fastened together side by side as in figure 4. Fasten the two end straws together and tie the string, completing the bracelet.

Next Week Possible

Nixon May Announce Appointments on TV

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon is considering a national television-radio appearance next week to announce his cabinet.

Sources close to Nixon said today he has not definitely decided on a format for announcing his cabinet choices. But they said such a radio-TV appearance was being given serious thought.

Nixon has said all cabinet choices will be announced in the coming week. The decision apparently depended on whether Nixon could line up an entire cabinet in time.

Jackson Out

Sources close to the president-elect said Friday night Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, had removed himself from contention as a possible secretary of defense.

Nixon came here to attend the annual meeting of the Republican Governors Association.

Speaking briefly Friday night, the incoming president said the United States has the wealth to be the best fed, best housed nation in the world has ever known—and to share its prosperity "more equally than any people have ever shared."

He said "we're going to see to it" that Americans now fighting in Vietnam come home to a nation which can be united with opportunity for all people.

Nixon, flying back to New York today, was not expected to reveal his cabinet picks until Tuesday, at the earliest.

Possible Appointee

However, Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California made no secret of the fact that his longtime friend had offered him a cabinet job—perhaps as secretary of health, education and welfare. He did not pinpoint the job.

Finch said Thursday that Nixon was considering a major overhaul of cabinet departments sometime after taking office Jan. 20. Finch suggested that the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Housing and Urban Development, and Transportation might be amalgamated into a department of human resources. He said the old-line departments of agriculture and interior might be combined in a new department of natural resources.

Winton M. Blount, 46-year-old Montgomery, Ala., businessman and president of the national Chamber of Commerce, was reported to be in line for the job of postmaster general.

Blount, president of Blount Brothers Corp., Montgomery, is a builder of many multimillion dollar projects ranging from industrial plants to missile defense and space administration installations.

Sunday, Dec. 23, marks another two hours of special Christmas music with Little Chute merchants sponsoring the first segment from 8 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., Kimberly merchants the second half-hour, from 8:30 to 9 p.m., and Kaukauna merchants sponsoring the full hour program from 9 to 10 p.m.

Increased Pay For Legislators Wins Favor

State Joint Finance Committee Gives Preliminary Okay

MADISON (AP) — A 6 per cent salary increase for most state legislators received approval Friday from the legislature's Joint Finance Committee.

John Shiels, chairman of the State Personnel Board, described the increase as a cost-of-living benefit, comparable to a 6 per cent increase given state employes over the last two years.

The committee approved the increaase 7-5. It would provide 116 of the state's 133 lawmakers with an average salary of $8,900, or $500 more than the existing level.

Legislative pay was increased two years ago to $8,400 from $5,400. The 17 senators who would not share in the newest increase are under terms that expire in 1970.

Hollander Opposed

Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, chairman of the committee, objected to the increase.

He called it an undesirable expense with which to confront the Finance Committee, which will be studying 1969 budget requests.

Hollander and four other Republicans voted against the increase. Two Democrats joined with five Republicans in support of it.

The committee reviews all budgetary and salary requests of state agencies every two years.

Economic Adjustment

A citizens' committee recommended the raise which has been approved by the state Personnel Board as an "economic adjustment" designed to keep pace with the 6 per cent pay boost given state Civil Service workers.

"I thought we would be establishing a bad precedent in view of the tremendous budget request that will be made this session," Hollander said.

Sen. James Swan, R-Elkhorn, who made the motion for the raise, said "cheap legislators are not a bargain."

He said the raise was necessary because many persons can not make the financial sacrifice to seek a position in the Legislature.

Allowing Sale of Birth Control Items to Unmarrieds Advised

MADISON (AP) — A Legislative Council subcommittee has given its blessing to a proposal which would end Wisconsin's 35-year-old prohibition against sale of birth control items to unmarried persons.

The Public Welfare Committee endorsed the measure 7-4 Friday after reviewing arguments submitted at hearings.

The bill would allow only pharmacists and physicians to distribute birth control pills and other contraceptives to the unwed.

For 3½ decades, state law has classified contraceptives as "indecent articles."

Dr. John Brennan of Milwaukee, an obstetrician who has opposed thee proposed bill, suggested the attorney general rule whether the revision would be in conflict with other laws.

"This proposed law is not a family planning bill," he said. "It has nothing to do with the family. It is a fornication bill."

Brennan served on a Legislative Council advisory panel which helped draw up the measure.

He offered a substitute bill which would have allowed contraceptives to only those persons living as man and wife.

Assemblyman Stanley York, a Republican clergyman from River Falls, said Brennan's proposal would prevent him from counseling young persons about some facets of marriage.

3 Children Die in Menomonie Fire

MENOMONIE (AP) — Three children of a Dunn County farm family died Friday as fire swept through their home while their parents were in a neighbor's barn.

Authorities said Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stoeklen emerged from the barn to find their dwelling ablaze, and were driven back by flames during efforts to enter the house in search of the youngsters.

Dead are Charles 4, Lawrence 3 and Walter 1. A 5-year-old daughter was at school.

The frame dwelling was about 10 miles northwest of Menomonie.

Marijuana Increasingly Believed Dangerous

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Dr. Donald B. Louria, associate professor of medicine at Cornell University and president of the New York State Council on Drug Addiction, told a Bowdoin College audience recently that evidence is increasing that the use of marijuana is potentially dangerous.

Private Talks Might Show Some Gains

and prepare to merge the country with North Vietnam.

Saigon claims this program seeks to achieve Hanoi's war aims at the conference table.

The allied view of a possible peace settlement on the other hand would man the final defeat of Hanoi's war aims. It would require disarming Viet Cong units in the South and would leave the political future of South Vietnam in the hands of the Saigon government.

Hanoi says this program seeks to perpetuate "American aggression" in South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese and NLF delegations face the talks with a united front. While constantly insisting on their sovereign, independent status, their postures have been identical.

Any similar unanimity between Washington and Saigon may be difficult to establish and maintain, particularly with strong-willed Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky acting as "special adviser" to the South Vietnamese delegation.

North Vietnamese and NLF negotiators say there must be agreement on South Vietnam's political future before there can be any cease-fire.

Short of destroying their forces in the field, there is no way for the allies to enforce a cease-fire against the enemy's will. Thus negotiations for a political settlement ultimately are unavoidable.

Kimberly Whips Shawano in M-E, 73-44; Patriots Go 3 Overtimes to Tip Wildcats

Papermakers Hit 46 Per Cent From Floor in Cruising to Sixth Victory of Campaign

BY TOM VANDERPAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY — Mid-Eastern Conference play got underway for Kimberly here Friday night but the result proved no different than five exhibition clashes as the Papermakers converted 46 per cent of their field goal attempts. en route to a 73-44 tomahawking of Shawano's Indians.

As usual Kimberly wasted little time in taking the advantage as Bill Lamers meshed five quick points to open the scoring.

Shawano finally found its composure and the hoop, rallying its forces to a 9-all tie on Orman Waukau's fielder with 3:30 remaining in the period.

Jeff Wildenberg's goal put Kimberly ahead to stay and he canned three more buckets before the segment ended, hoisting the hosts' lead to 19-12.

Held to 7 Points

Led by Gary Kilsdonk and Wildenberg with six points, each, the Papermakers blitzed for 21 tallies in the second canto, while the Indians could muster but seven, all by Stu Druckrey.

In soaring to a 40-19 halftime bulge, the Papermakers setted 18 of 36 floor shots and added four charity tosses in five attempts.

Waukau and Druckrey coined 11 markers between them in the third quarter for Shawano, but Lamers did them one better, bagging an even dozen as Kimberly extended its margin to 61-36.

Coach Jack Wippich's reserves dominated the final stanza, each getting a full-gun salute from the crowd when finding a place in the scoring column. Gary Wyngaard, Jim Gage and Tim and Bill Vander Velden all had a turn at raising the rafters.

Lamers took game scoring honors for the winners with 22 points, followed by Wildenberg and Wayne Swokowski with 19 and 11, respectively.

Druckery Hit 13

Shawano, in converting 25 per cent of its field goal attempts, was paced in scoring by Druckrey with 13 markers.

Kimberly found the nets 31 times in 67 tries from the floor and dumped 11 of 18 free throws. Despite the 73-point total, steady-as-you-go. Don Hagany, didn't notch a single one of those tallies. Instead, he confined himself to the customary hustle game of running, feeding and ballhawking that has long since been his trademark.

JFK Prep '5' Tops Mustangs By 54-38 Score

Little Chute Quint Has 31 Turnovers In Non-Loop Game

ST. NAZIANZ — The Royals of JFK Prep capitalized on 31 turnovers committed by Little Chute to top the Mustangs by a score of 54-38 in a non-conference game Friday night.

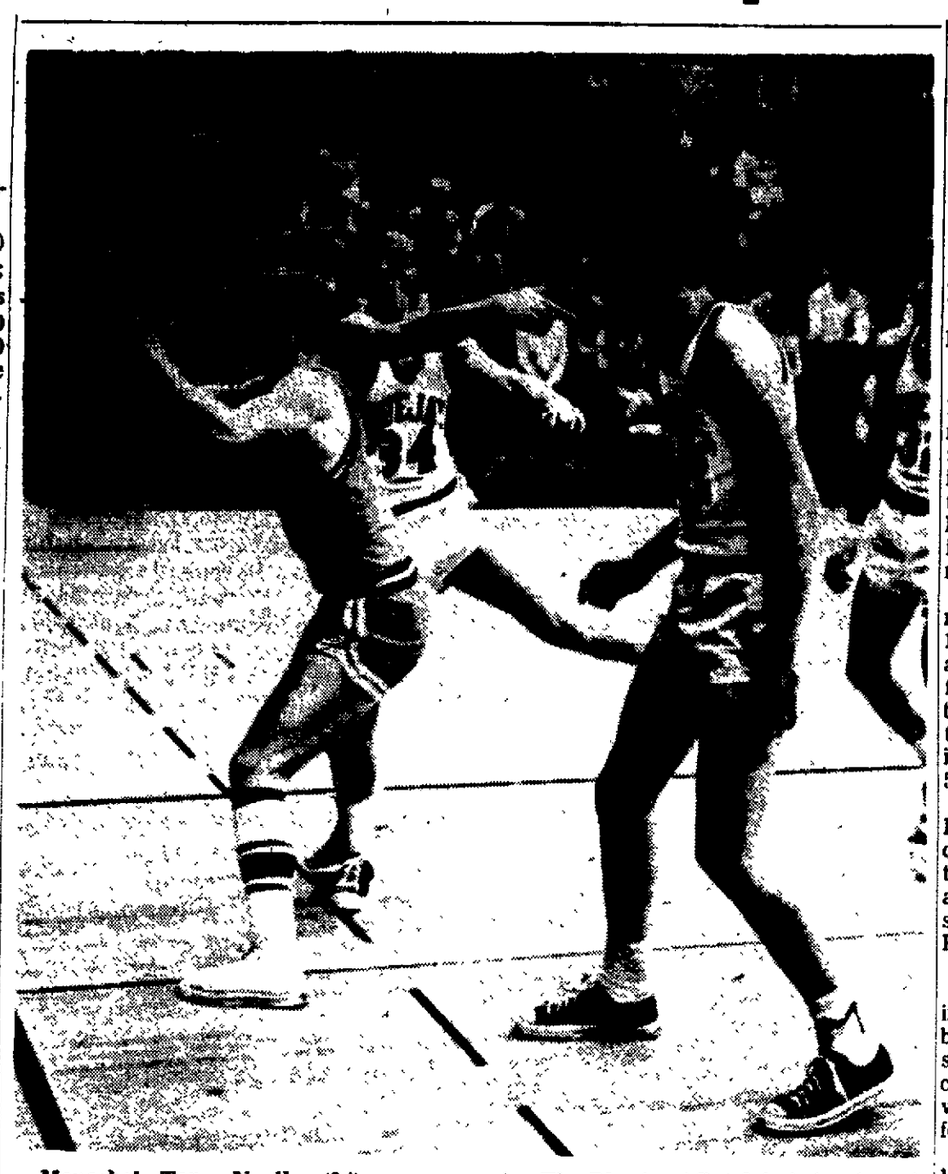

The Royals held a 15-6 lead after one period of play and increased the margin to 15 points at halftime. The Mustangs came back, however, and got within eight points of JFK late in the third quarter. Little Chute then tipped in a rebound, but it was no good because of a foul, and the Royals took the ball down court and scored on the next play.

High-scoring honors went to the Royals' (5-11) forward. Dick Bandl, who collected 18 points. Teammate Rocky Belongie was second with 14 points.

The Royals snagged 36 rebounds to the Mustangs 23. The victory leaves JFK Prep with a 1-3 season record. Little Chute now has a 1-4 record.

JFK Prep (15-14-8-17 — 54) Kabat 1 5 3; Bongers 5 0 1; Brandl 6 6 3; Belongie 6 2 2; Hessel 1 0 0; Ziebell 1 1 4. Totals 20 14 13.

Birkholz Steals Ball For Bucket

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

If it hadn't been for the quick hands of alert Bob Birkholz, the marathon Appleton East-Green Bay West basketball game might still be going on.

AHS-E's Birkholz stole the ball from the Wildcats with one minute, 5 seconds left of the third overtime period and drove in to smash the 19th and final tie of a fantastically-even Fox River Valley Conference clash in the Patriots' gym Friday night.

The Wildcats' Chuck Schultz missed a free throw (on a 1-and-1 situation) with 33 seconds left, and the Patriots froze the ball for the final half-minute to cap the longest and, almost certainly, the most exciting game in the school's 2-year history 60-58.

It was a significant win for Bill Morse-coached AHS-E because it came at the expense of the pre-season title favorites and also snapped a FRVC losing streak at two games. The Patriots are now 2-2, over-all.

Scores 21 Points

Scoring ace Tom Jones poured in 21 points for the Patriots before he fouled out early in the second overtime. Scott Wenzlau contributed 15 points to the victory, and Birkholz accounted for 10.

For GBW, which now owns a 1-2 league record, four players tallied between 10 and 13 points. Schultz led, with 13.

The Patriots, who drilled field goals at a 44.2 per cent accuracy rate (23 of 52) were sensational from the free throw line — 14 for 14. GBW was tagged with only 10 fouls in the 41 minutes of play, but the Patriots took maximum advantage with their perfect free throw shooting.

The hustling Patriots' tight zone kept GBW from sinking a basket in overtime play (the Wildcats got off only four attempts in the nine extra minutes), but the visitors canned six free throws. In all, GBW sank 18 of 32 foul throws and made 20 of 47 field shots (42.6 per cent).

Biggest Margin

Gary Bleier's basket and Pete Kliefoth's two free throws gave East a quick 4-0 lead — and it represented the biggest margin either side could open in the first half. GBW's Bruce Adams and Schultz quickly tied it up to show what kind of night it was going to be.

AHS-E was ahead by one point (15-14) at the quarter, but the visitors made up the point during the see-saw second stanza to create a 30-all halftime draw.

In the third quarter, Jones outmaneuvered GBW's big front line to force four of his team's first five goals and help create a 40-35 margin — the game's biggest spread. It soon became a sizzler again as Jones contracted his fourth foul with 1:43

Catlin Leads Terrors

Appleton West '5' Tops GB Southwest

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Appleton West trounced Green Bay Southwest, 65-50, Friday night for its second straight Fox River Valley Conference basketball victory.

The Terrors sank better than half of their field shots and handcuffed the Troans with a combination pressing defense and 1-2-2 zone. AHS-W dropped in 10 of 19 floor attempts in the first half and finished the game with a red-hot mark of 58 per cent, unofficially.

Southwest was held to 12 baskets (going more than six minutes without a goal in both the second and third quarters) but sank 26 of 39 free throws to keep its point total respectable.

Mark Catlin, a senior, hit consistently from the corner and from the key in garnering seven field goals and a total of 15 points to lead the Terrors. Sophomore Rick Reitzner was runnerup, with 14 points. Ten Terrors, in all, put points on the board.

For Southwest, John Vogel led the way with 18 points, 10 of them coming from the free throw line.

The Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors scored the first four points of the game and never trailed. AHS-W led by seven (31-24) at halftime and put the game out of the Trojans reach with a 19-7 edge in the third quarter.

AHS-W now has a conference record of 2-1 and is 2-2, over-all. Southwest is 0-3 in FRVC play.

Cadets Rally, Edge Chuters By 65-60 Score

Premontre Quint Overcomes Deficit In Last 3 Minutes

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Premontre's Tom Skaleski, for two quarters a gentle kitten, charged to the floor in the second half like a ferocious tiger and led the Cadets to a frantic 65-60 victory over an angry and frustrated Little Chute St. John quintet Friday night.

Whatever coach Grant Killoren had to say to Skaleski at halftime must have hit home as the rangy junior, who could account for only seven points in the first half, returned to slam home 16 more including the biggest basket of the night with 12 seconds left.

The Cadets trailed 60-57 with three minutes to go when a Jim Bittner drive-in and two Skaleski free throws put the Cadets back on top 61-60. Seconds later reserve standout Wayne Ripley, dropped another free throw to give Premontre a 2-point edge.

Boiling Point

The Dutchmen, who appeared at the boiling point in the final minutes, after several crucial fouls, missed the tying bucket with 34 seconds to go. Dennis Hermans then missed a layup, but Skaleski tipped it in and Ripley's free throw after the buzzer was anti-clamactic.

The Cadets were impressive at the game's outset, but then quickly turned sour. Bittner's three baskets sparked Premontre to a 12-8 lead, but the Dutchmen were right back in it a minute later at 14-14.

A 10-point spree by St. John early in the second period nearly ran the Cadets off the floor as the Dutchmen turned a 17-14 deficit into a sudden 24-17 lead. The Cadets closed to within three points a couple of times but St. John took a 33-27 lead into the locker room.

Fullarton Scores 28 Points

Hawks Trim Lourdes

BY FRANK CHURCH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Xavier High School rolled to its sixth straight basketball victory of the season with a second half that saw them score 52 points to defeat Lourdes High School of Oshkosh here Friday night, 91-63.

The Xavier attack was led by towering Bob Fullarton, whose 6-foot 8-inch frame proved unstoppable for the smaller Knights. The senior center connected for 28 points on 13 buckets and two free throws.

Teammates Mike Clark, with 19, Brad Graff, with 15, and Tom Vanden Elsen, with 12, provided the bulk of the rest of the scoring for the Hawks.

The loss was the second in four games for the Knights, who are now 1-1 in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference. Xavier is now 3-0 in conference play.

Trail by Nine

Lourdes, which went into the second half only nine points behind at 39-30, found Fullarton's shooting from underneath too difficult to stop.

The Knights were led in scoring by the husky 5-11 freshman John Zahalka, who dumped in a career high of 20 points. Leon Luker added 12, and 6-6 center Tim Wegener canned 10 points.

The game started in prophetic fashion, with Graff hitting a set shot from the right side and Fullarton scoring on a fast break to give the Hawks a 4-0 advantage.

John Zahalka then scored on a long jump shot and a lay-up and Wegener added two more to make the score an even 6-6 after Fullarton added another two.

The score was again knotted at 8-8 with 4:30 left in the first period, and that was the last time the Knights pulled even with the Hawks all evening.

The Hawks added another 13 before the period ended to hold a 21-14 lead.

Lowest Effort

Jamie Zahalka started the second period off with a fast break drive to bring the score to 21-16. For Zahalka, that was the only bucket of the evening in what was his lowest scoring effort of the season.

Two free throws and a basket by Graff widened the margin to 25-18 after Wegener hit on a tip-in, but baskets from underneath by Fullarton and a Clark jump shot widened it to 33-18 before Luker tipped one in to narrow the gap to 13.

The Knights then came back to narrow it to 35-28 before Tom Thomson and Clark scored for the Hawks to make it 39-28. John Zahalka ended the scoring with a pretty drive from the right side to leave it at 39-30 at the half.

The second half was a different story, however, as the Hawks immediately widened the margin to 50-34 with 5:40 left in the third period behind the shooting of Graff and Fullarton.

Lourdes attempted to come back again with baskets by Luker and John Zahalka, to put it at 52-39, before the Hawks began a surge that would carry them to a 63-45 third period lead.

In a game marked by plenty of mistakes by both teams, the fourth quarter topped all in the number of miscues. The Hawks, however, added 28 points to only 18 for Lourdes in an anticlimactic finish.

Xavier (21-18-2428—91) Fullerton 13 2 4; Clark 6 7 2; Graff 6 3 3; Thomson 4 0 1; Vanden Elsen 4 4 2; Weggel 2 3 3; Collar 0 2 1. Totals 23 21 16.

Ritger Finishes 7th in Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Ritger of Hartford, Wis., finished seventh Friday night in the Professional Bowlers Association national championships after a battle for second place.

Wayne Zahn of Atlanta took the title for a second time. He had 14,181 for $10,000.

Nelson Burton of St. Louis finished with 13,741 after fighting with Ritger for second place. Ritger concluded with 13,647 for $2,500.

Jack Connaughton of La Crosse, Wis., one of the leaders earlier in the tourney, was not among the 24 finalists.

MENASHA — Getting its attack functioning in the second period, Menasha High School assumed complete command of the game to trim Kaukauna, 84-51, here Friday night.

The victory was the first in five starts for the Bluejays, who entertain Stevens Point this evening. They have a 1-1 Mid-Eastern Conference log. Kaukauna is still winless in five outings.

Superb rebounding was a key factor in the hosts' triumph. Using their height edge to strong advantage, the locals claimed superiority of the boards in the second period and frequently on offense had two or three tips after the original shot. The unofficial statistics showed them with a whopping 99 throws at the bucket, many of which were rebounds.

Starting center Pat Jakubek and his reserve, Chris Reichelt, both 6-4, did yeoman service as did forwards Brad Schliem and Terry Noeller. Kaukauna's pivotman Jack Kempen was handicapped by fouls most of the game and picked up his fifth with better than six minutes left to play.

The game started out to be quite a tussle and was knotted 14-14 at the end of the first

Rockets Hold Off Sheboygan North '5'

SHEBOYGAN — Forward Tom Kopitzke fired in 34 points, and Neenah's Rockets staved off a Sheboygan North bid in the fourth quarter to beat the Golden Raiders, 79-68, in a Fox River Valley Conference clash Friday night.

The victory was the third without a loss for Neenah, which is in its first season in FRVC competition. North dropped to a 1-1 mark.

Neenah, which led all the way after breaking a 6-6 tie early in the first quarter, had to fight off a determined drive by the home team to stay unbeaten. And it was Kopitzke who came to the rescue

After North had closed the gap from a 15-point deficit at halftime (45-30) to just three points at 61-58, the 6-3 senior twisted in a shot underneath and at the same time drew a fowl. His free throw shoved the Rockets back up by six with 3:51 to go.

The Raiders came back to within four points twice after that juncture, but then Kopitzke's teammates took the cue to come hrough with clutch baskets. Big center Jim Hoelzel and Tom Koepke, each got one key shot, and Pat Hawley counted on the fast break and contributed two free throws.

That flurry put the Rockets out of reach at 72-62 with a little over two minutes remaining.

Kopitzke was tremendous in the first half, as he pumped home 23 of his 34 points. He had 12 of them in the first period, leading the Red & White to a 19-15 edge.

North trailed by five at 31-26 mid-way in the second frame, when the Rockets suddenly caught fire to out-score their hosts by a 14-4 margin the remainder of the period.

Neenah's lead was still comfortable at 54-41 in the third quarter, when Hoelzel sat down with his fourth foul and still 3:31 left to go.

Richie Peterson, who paced four double figures scorers for North with 19 points, garnered and fast-break bucket to open the last period and 6-5 center Mark Hildebrand contributed two free throws to make it 57-53.

Hoelzel then returned with 6:39 showing, and Koepke — who had 14 points for the night — stemmed the tide with a pair of jumpers. However, North retaliated with a Hildebrand gift toss, and baskets by Mark Breddick and Don Otten to cut the margin to 61-58 and set the stage for Kopitzke's decisive three-point play.

Green Bay East Hands Oshkosh 66-62 FRVC Loss

Green Bay East remained undefeated in Fox River Valley Conference action Friday night with a 64-62 win over Oshkosh at Oshkosh.

The win for the Red Devils gives them a 2-0 record as they trail Neenah by a half-game as the Rockets notched their third straight win with a 79-68 win over Sheboygan North.

Manitowoc, led by John Savage and sophomore Ron Reindl, ripped previously unbeaten Sheboygan South, 76-58 in the other valley contest.

In the East game, Chuck Hougard forced an Oshkosh player to drop the ball in the waning seconds and East came up with the ball to thwart a last minute shot by the Indians.

League Opener for Both

Wayland Downs FVL, 65-44

Flashy Wayland Academy showed why it ranks as one of the favorites in the Midwest Prep Conference basketball race this season, as the Redmen zipped past an ice-cold shooting Fox Valley Lutheran quintet, 65-44, in the league opener for both teams on the Foxes' court Friday night.

The poised and talented Redmen, paced by guard Jim Cape's 20 points, moved into its first lead at 8-7 with two minutes left in the first quarter and quickly pulled away. FVL trailed at intermission by a 34-16 margin.

It was another frustrating night from the floor for Fox Valley, which has yet to taste victory in four games. After shooting just 28 per cent in their last outing against St. John, the Foxes came up with a microscopic 18.1 per cent figure Friday night. In contrast, Wayland fired away at a 46-6 clip on 28 of 99 tries.

Only 14 of 77 floor attempts fell for the Appleton team, and half of those were netted by 5-10 guard Mark Bootz. Bootz was the lone right spot for the Foxes, as he connected on seven of 16 tries and made 11 consecutive free throws before missing once to total 25 points. In addition, the bespectacled senior played an excellent floor game.

Bootz' popping from the outside was FVL's only weapon against Wayland's stifling 1-2-2 zone. Beck Goldbeck, the Foxes' 6-7 center who had previously bossed the team in scoring, failed to hit in nine shots and wound up with two points on a pair of free throws.

Cape, who several times broke away for solo shots on the fast break, hit on 10 of 18 launchings for his 20 points. Teammates Scott Lutzke and Perry Gaudet were also in double figures with 14 and 12 markers, respectively.

Hopes for an upset blossomed early in the contest, as Bootz hit twice from out and John Hannemann once to give the Foxes a 7-4 advantage with 2:32

Omro's Wade Hits 38

Hansen Scores 43, But Reedsville '5' Tips Brillion, 72-71

Five players cracked the 30-point barrier Friday night as the Little Nine Conference rolled into its second week of play which left four teams undefeated.

Brillion's Russ Hansen paced all scorers as he hit 43 points in a losing effort as Reedsville nipped the Lions, 72-71. Randy Wade's 38 points sparked Omro to a 94-50 win over Shiocton. Mike Lee netted 34 for Winneconne to pace a 92-68 win over Denmark despite a 30-point effort by John Roberts. Hortonville's Dave Riggles led a 69-51 win over Freedom with his 31-point performance. In the other conference game, Hilbert tipped Wrightstown, 75-72.

Steve Zirbel scored 17 points of his total 25 in the first half as Reedsville marched to a 49-32 lead at intermission. Hansen, 6-1, sparked a third quarter Lion surge with 14 markers as they outscored the Panthers 23-13 to cut their deficit to seven.

Exchange Leads

The Lions exchanged leads with the Panthers in the last two minutes of the game after taking the lead, for the first time, with three minutes left. They held a one-point lead (70-71) with 12 seconds left.

After calling time-out the Panthers stalled their attack before Zirbel shot with three second left, but the ball didn't go in. It bounced around and then out, but Mark Rolland tipped in the rebound at the buzzer for the win.

The Panthers are now 2-0 in the conference while the Lions are 1-1.

Omro (2-0) was in command all the way, against Shiocton (0-2). The foxes took a 31-12 first quarter lead and built their edge to 53-29 at the half.

Wade's 38 points was backed up by Steve Hoeft who tallied 22. Wade controlled the boards as he pulled down 18 of the team's total 39.

Halftime Lead

Winneconne (2-0) turned a 38-33 half-time lead into a 92-68 romp over Denmark (0-2) as Lee and Russ Flanigan combined for 41 in the second half to outscore the Vikings, 55-35.

Lee tallied 21, including 14 in the fourth quarter. Flanigan scored 10 points in both periods as he finished the night with 24.

The Vikes hit on only 29 of 77 shots. The Wolves shot 65 per cent from the floor unofficially, netting 39 of 61 tries.

Despite jumping-off to a 12-5 lead after the initial frame, Hortonville's Polar Bears (2-0) had to rally from an early third quarter deficit.

The Polar Bears brought a 28-24 lead into halftime. But the Irish refused to go down. Freedom came out of the intermission strong to take a 29-28 lead but faltered as Hortonville outscored them 21-3, the rest of the quarter to carry a 49-32 edge into the final frame.

Nagreen Scores 19

Dennis Nagreen scored 19 points for the Polar Bears to back up the 31 of Riggles. Mark Kiel was high for the losers, now 0-2, with 12.

Hilbert (1-1) rallied from a 19-14 first stanza deficit and held off a late Wrightstown surge.

The Tigers took a 19-14 lead but fell in the second period as the Wolves outscored them, 19-8, to take a 33-27 halftime lead.

Hilbert scored 19 points in the third frame to 13 for the Tigers to hold a 52-40 lead.

Wrightstown cut the Wolves' lead to three but could not come any closer.

Tim McDaniel led Wrightstown with 21 markers. Steve Hemauer paced Hilbert with 21.

76ers Rally to Get by Bucks

Philadelphia '5' Surges to Notch 121-112 Vistory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers needed a 10-point scoring spree to get safely ahead of the Milwaukee Bucks for a 121-112 National Basketball Association victory Friday night.

The Bucks, who play in New York tonight, repeatedly pulled ahead of their guests, and the score was tied 96-96 before Philadelphia's final-quarter surge decided the outcome.

Milwaukee collapsed in the fourth period, surrendering the ball several times.

The 76ers pulled ahead 10-4 in the opening three minutes, but soon found themselves trailing 7-12.

Philadelphia led only 58-55 at halftime. Milwaukee pulled ahead early in the fourth period.

Guy Rodgers led Milwaukee with 24, and Dave Gambee contributed 23.

It was the 19th defeat for the NBA expansion club. A 136-92 loss to Philadelphia Nov. 16 is Milwaukee's worst loss margin to date.

However, the Beaver Dam invaders quickly sprung 6-4 Pat Patterson under for one layup and Cape on the baseline for a jumper. Moments later, Gaudet notched two free throws and it was 10-7.

Wayland outscored the home club, 6-2, to hold a 16-9 edge at the quarter's end and then rallied six straight points at the outset of the second stanza to go ahead, 22-9.

FVL, which had made just three of 20 shots in the first eight minutes, went even colder in the second frame with only one bucket in 20 tries. Bootz didn't get that one until 16 seconds remained.

Wayland kept its regulars in the game until about 3½ minutes were left in the last quarter. The Redmen kept building their lead in the second half and on two occasions had [illegible]-point margins at 46-28 and 58-[illegible]

White Sox Make Trade With Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox traded veteran pitcher Jack Fisher to the Cincinnati Reds Friday for pitcher Don Paveltich and pitcher Don Secrist.

The White Sox also sold veteran outfielder Leon Wagner to the Reds for an unannounced amount of cash in a conditional deal.

The transactions were the 9th and 10, involving 20 players, completed here at the week-long major league baseball meetings.

Ohio State '5' Fails to Stop UCLA, 84-73

Alcindor Leads Top-Rated Bruins To 18th Straight

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State tried and failed, now Notre Dame gets its chance to upset the mighty UCLA Bruins in College basketball tonight.

The Bruins, the country's top collegiate team, demolished the Buckeyes 84-73 at Columbus, Ohio, Friday night with towering Lew Alcindor getting 19 points and dominating the backboard with 21 rebounds.

The agile 7-foot-2 Alcindor and his teammates move into South Bend, Ind., tonight to help the Irish dedicate a new 12,000-seat athletic center on the Notre Dame campus.

Ohio State delighted a capacity crowd of 13,497 by taking a 20-15 lead, but the Bruins soon tied it at 27-27 and pulled away for their 18th straight, two for two this season, and their 65th triumph in 66 games.

Notre Dame, fifth-ranked to UCLA's No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, is reported to have one of its best teams in years, but it remains to be seen whether the Irish can defeat the Bruins.

The Cincinnati Bearcats and the Villanova Wildcats, ranked ninth and 10th in the AP pool, had little trouble scoring home court victories. The Bearcats bowled over North Dakota State 83-54 and the Wildcats thumped Philadelphia Textile 94-74. No. 8 New Mexico stopped Hawaii 77-62.

Oregon State, Baylor and Nevada Southern scored notable triumphs. Playing at home, Orego State downed Nebraska 79-67 behind 28 points by 7-foot Vic Bartolome. Baylor scored on the road over New Orleans Loyola 99-88 as did Nevada Southern in whipping Oklahoma 103-84.

Utah overcame Washington 82-74. Colorado State U. went two overtimes to take U. of Pacific 78-77 while in a double-header at East Lansing, Mich., Toledo beat Michigan 89-76 and Michigan State conquered Western Michigan 86-71.

Duquesne, behind Garret Dixon's 21 points, downed St. John's of New York 72-62 and Pitt took Westminster, Pa. 59-52 in the first round of the Steel Bowl at Pittsburgh.

Jacksonville edge Florida 67-64 and Florida State whacked Miami, Fla. 111-84 in the opening of the Sunshine Classic at Jacksonville, Fla. while St. Peters beat Hofstra 75-58 and Rider edged Brown 74-71 in the Governors' Classic at Trenton, N.J.

Home Tavern Nears First-Half Title

Home Tavern (77-40) moved closer to the first half title in the Valley Pool League by grabbing eight wins in nine games against Reiland's in recent action.

With one week of first-half play to go, Techlin's (72-45) stands in second place after also winning eight games from Center Valley. Skunk Hill (66-51) is in third place despite dropping five of nine to Stammer's.

Who Wants It—

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — About all that is known about the man who will replace William D. Eckert as Baseball Commissioner is that he will be a man from inside the game. The owners are not about to repeat their "unknown soldier" adventure.

But the question is, which member of baseball's inner circle would want the job, which is growing more difficult by the moment.

Among those mentioned to replace Eckert, who was dismissed Friday in a shower of public good will after a special owners' meeting, are Michael Burke, the dynamic boss of the New York Yankees; Joe Cronin, the portly president of the American League and Robert Cannon, now a judge and formerly attorney for the players.

But consider the problems that will haunt the next man, who may not be chosen for several months.

Study for Changes

For openers, he faces the most serious threat of players' strike in the game's history. And neither side seems in much of a mood to compromise as was made abundantly clear Friday.

Second, he would have to operate for an unspecified amount of time while an outside research group made a study that could lead to vast changes in the organization of the game, possibly eliminating the commissionership.

All that is certain is that right now the game seems to be in for a winter as turbulent and contentious as any pennant race it has ever known.

For the record, Eckert resigned, saying that "a baseball man can more effectively do the job," but it was clear that he had been asked to quit by owners who could no longer hide from themselves the fact that he was not what the game needed.

Shy, self-effacing, almost painfully inarticulate, the 59-year-old former Air Force general seldom took a strong public stand on the problems that arose during his tenure though he was proud of the part he took in expansion of the majors and raising television revenues.

And the game's attendance has declined by nearly 2¼ million admissions in the three years he has been in office while professional football has been steadily on the rise.

Players and owners seem more anxious to make their pension fund dispute a bitter test of wills than to settle it.

Friday, for instance, the owners waved the red flag in front of the angry bull by adopting a new category for players' rosters called the temporary inactive list.

This allows a club to take an ill or non-baseball injured player off its active roster for a minimum of 21 days and suspend his salary.

Only two players may be so listed at once, but a player may be returned to the list at any time.

Questioned about the rule, National League attorney Bowie Kuhn said, "I'd be flabbergasted if there were any abuse of this thing. You look at the history of it and you see that mostly guys have just gone out and done something stupid."

GBW led 47-45, after the third period and boosted the margin to four at the start of the final (theoretically, at least) period on Terry Schott's long goal. Ken Zelie, with a pair of baskets, led an East counter-attack to fashion a 51-all tie. The Wildcats' 6-6 Dan Berner fouled out with 1:45 left, and Jones converted the free throw for a 52-51 lead.

Schott's free throw, with 1:29 left, re-tied it. AHS-E controlled a ball for the remainder of regulation time but eventually lost the ball in a scramble and failed to get off a shot.

GBW's Bill Albrecht sank two free tosses with the first overtime 16 second old, but Kliefoth tied it with a 15-foot field shot, and Birkholz zeroed in from the left corner for a 56-54 edge. Chuck Ebert canned a pair of gift shots with 12 seconds left to send it into the second overtime.

Wenzlau hit from 15 feet with the period 10 seconds along, but Schultz turned Jones' fifth foul into the tying two points with 2:21 left. AHS-E controlled the ball for most of the remainder of the period but, failed to connect. In the third overtime, Schultz missed free throws, with 2:17 and :33 remaining — but Birkholz didn't miss as he barreled basket-ward after his interception.

Riot Touched Off by Split Decision in 'Bantam' Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Australia's Lionel Rose is still the world champion bantamweight boxer. Mexico's Chucho Castillo goes home a disappointed young challenger.

Boxing in Los Angeles, and the Forum, a truly fine edifice of sports, is in a state of considerable disarray.

It all came about Friday night when the 20-year-old Rose was awarded a split decision over the 24-year-old Mexican idol after 15 rounds of bristling action.

In minutes after the decision was announced, this is what happened:

Irate Castillo supporters, most of them nationals from below the border, set off a riot of near-major portions.

Smoke filled the arena.

Seats were torn from moorings and hurled willy-nilly; so were bottles, king-sized waste baskets—anything throwable.

Boxing writers ducked under the ring.

Rose's manager, Jack Rennie, was cut on the arms and legs by flying glass as he and Lionel fought to get to the dressing room.

Judges John Thomas and Lee Grossman carded the fight 7-6 for Rose.

Referee Dick Young scored it 9-7 for Castillo. Referee Young ironically was cut on the head by a flying bottle. He required four stitches.

The Associated Press scored it 8-6, Castillo.

Wausaukee Keeps Win Streak Alive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wausaukee kept Wisconsin high school's longest basketball winning string intact Friday night with a 57-50 victory over Suring—its 44th straight conference triumph.

The Rangers, members of the Marinette-Oconto Conference, finished last season rated seventh in The Associated Press "little ten."

Russ Hansen of Brillion, with 43 points, and Daniel Hinzman of Lake Mills with 40 led the scoring parade.

Hinzman's total helped Lake Mills to an 84-70 conquest of Cambridge. But Hansen couldn't get enough help as the Lions fell to Reedsville, 72-71.

Defending state champion Manitowoc had no trouble with Sheboygan South, winning 78-58, while Beloit, the team the Ships beat in the title game at Madison, was tripping Racine Horlick 64-61.

South Milwaukee Wins

Other members of the Madison field fared just as well. Brookfield East downed Brown Deer 54-47, Kimberly topped Shawano 73-44, and South Milwaukee dumped Shorewood 43-39.

Completing the eight-team field were: Wisconsin Dells, which beat Viroqua 61-49; Eau Claire Memorial winner over Chippewa Falls 75-53, and Schofield, which topped Stevens Point 64-51.

Lincoln, one of the favorites in the Milwaukee City Conference, was idle Friday. But North and Riverside, the co-favorites for the conference crown, saw high-scoring action.

North, which plays Lincoln tonight, shot 51 per cent from the floor and overwhelmed Hamilton 107-66. Riverside zoomed to a lopsided 103-37 victory against Boys Tech, out-rebounding the Trojans 58-25.

West Allis Hale became the only unbeaten team in the Milwaukee Suburban Conference by trouncing Cudahy 83-60.

West Allis Central abdicated first place to Hale by dropping a heartbreaker to Wauwatosa West 70-69, when John Wolfenburg scored a basket with three seconds left in overtime.

Racine St. Catherine, making hay on the transfer of 6-foot-10 Jimmy Chones to St. Catherine from Racine Park, whipped Waukesha Memorial 81-48. Chones tallied 36 points.

Don Berrens Slams 709 Set At Menasha

MENASHA — Don Berrens, 5742 Grundemann Lane, Oshkosh, blasted a 709 national honor count in the Menasha Men's League Friday night at the Mid-Town Lanes.

Berrens opened with a 211 game and followed with a 220 before clobbering a 278 in his finale effort. He ran a string of eight straight strikes before picking up a spare in the ninth frame of the high line.

Berrens carries a 170 average in the league and has been bowling for 23 years. It was his first national count ever. He bowls for the Left Guard Steak House team.

The national set was the second of the week in the Fox Cities as Keith Gehring recorded a 737 in the 41 Bowl Classic League Thursday night.

Clintonville Rolls Past Raiders, 85-59

TWO RIVERS — The Clintonville Truckers ran down Two Rivers Friday night, 85-59, to hold on to a piece of first place in the Mid-Eastern Conference. The Truckers led by as much as 40 points, as they had built up an 83-43 lead in the final period of play.

Clintonville got off to a fast start, scoring 14 points in a row, as it amassed a 25-4 lead. Pat Zingler, who scored 22 points for the Truckers, has 11 first quarter points, and 19 by the half.

The Raiders collected 16 of the game's final 18 points to narrow the gap, somewhat.

The Truckers out-rebounded Two Rivers, 44 to 32. Clintonville hit on 29 of 59 from the floor for a percentage of 49, while the Raiders shot a weak 31 per cent.

Steve Sonntag, the Raiders' leading scorer in the game. He scored a total of 12 points.

eight minutes. The Ghosts owned a 20-16 edge in the early going of the second period but suddenly the Jays caught fire and punched home 15 straight points within a space of about two minutes, pulling ahead 33-20. The spread remained at 13 (37-24) at halftime. The Ghosts made nine turnovers in the period.

Spearheading the drive were Ron Haack, Reichelt, Buzz Zeininger with two baskets apiece.

The Jays weren't able to shrink the margin under 12 points after the half and at 41-29, the Jays hit a string of nine points. After a Kaukauna free throw, they dropped home six more, winding up with a 58-36 advantage at the three-fourths juncture.

Kaukauna opened the fourth quarter with a basket but then the hosts broke loose with another barrage of points, posting a 14-2 edge in another span.

Reserves played the last six minutes for the Twin Citians and accounted for 22 of the 26 final quarter points.

Zeininger Top Scorer

Zeininger, scoring often off the fast break, led the Menashans with 18 points, all on field goals. Schliem had 11 and Haack, Noeller and Walter 10 apiece.

Sean Rohan and La Borde headed the Ghosts with 14 and 13 markers respectively.

Menasha hooped 37 field goals in their 99 attempts. Unofficially its cagers had 32 tries in the second period, making 11. They were 11 of 19 in the fourth.

Kaukauna experienced shooting woes all evening and hit only 17 of 61 attempts. It slipped to 3 of 16 in the final segment. The losers did better at the charity line, netting 17 of 24.

Lakeland Deals Trinity Quint 102-75 Setback

Oshkosh Falls To Eau Claire In Loop Opener

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lakeland College, picked by the coaches as likely to represent Wisconsin in NAIA basketball competition next March, got its Gateway Conference schedule under way Friday night by breaking the century mark.

The Muskies defeated Trinity of Illinois 102-75 while Oshkosh State, which coaches predicted Lakeland will replace as NAIA District 14's top club, opened its State University Conference schedule with an 80-61 loss to Eau Claire State.

In other WSUC games, River Falls beat Whitewater 71-57, Platteville downed Superior 88-88-67, and Stout overcame La Crosse 83-71.

Stevens Point lost 94-75 to the touring Czechoslovakian team, Slavia Prague, which meets Lakeland tonight in Sheboygan.

Dubuque University stopped Dominican of Racine 95-61, and Milton downed Northwestern 81-79 in another Gateway Conference game.

Lakeland, now 3-1 over-all, was led by Bob Guy's 21 points Friday night. Waymon Stewart added 20.

Oshkosh, having lost a number of graduates, was beaten for a third consecutive time. It was Eau Claire's third straight victory. The Bluegolds led 37-26 at halftime.

Stout led La Crosse 43-35 at halftime, and concluded the game with Mel Coleman leading scorers with 24 points.

River Falls held Whitewater to 20 points in the second half after trailing the Warhawks 37-33 at halftime. Top scorer was Whitewater's Don Paulson with 21 points.

Milton blew an 11-point lead, and had to struggle to keep ahead of Northwestern. The losers closed their deficit to 43-38 at the half. Their high scorer was Glen Thompson with 24 points.

Dominican could complete only 24 per cent of its shots from the field in the second half. Its high scorer was Sam Jones with 17 points.

Stevens Point gave the visiting Czech squad its toughest U.S. challenge to date. The visitors, now 4-0 in their 12-game tour, were led by the 31-point output of 6-foot-9 Jiri Zidek.

Bonduel Rolls To Victory Over Bayport

BONDUEL — Six-seven center John Dussling snagged 24 rebounds and collected 23 points as he led Bonduel to an 86-50 victory over Bayport in a Northeastern Wisconsin Conference game Friday.

Bonduel connected on 53 per cent of its shots from the floor, while Bayport made good on only 28 per cent of its field goal attempts.

Dussling was the game's highest scorer, turning in 23 points. His six-foot teammate, John Reinke, collected 19 points from the guard position.

The leading scorer for Bayport was forward Frank Roznik with 16 points.

Voters to Decide On Winneconne School Bond Fate

WINNECONNE — A $2.5 million question will be settled at the polls Monday when electors of the Winneconne School District determine whether the district can borrow for its proposed high school.

During the course of the past two months, approval of the project has been urged by school officials, board of education officers, members of the Winneconne Parent-Teacher Association and the teachers association.

The supporters have appeared at meetings of area organizations and clubs, have distributed pamphlets and have taken out newspaper ads.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Central School and the Winchester School.

Supt. Virgil Wadleigh said construction on the facility is expected to get underway this spring, with completion hoped for by September of 1970.

He has estimated that by the time the school opens, high school enrollment would be over the 500 mark. Student capacity has been set at from 800 to 1,000.

Along with the new facility, students will also be getting a new concept in education such as modular scheduling, open air classrooms, resource centers and a regulation size swimming pool.

The 151,850 square foot building will be located on the 51-acre site of the former James Buchanan property.

At $13 a square foot, construction costs have been estimated at $2,050,000.

Winneconne Voters

Making up the rest of the $2.5 million will be design and legal fees, $120,000; site development, $80,000; sewer, water and utilities, $20,000; interior equipment and furnishings, $200,000, and contingency fund, $30,000.

"It is ultimately our responsibility to either linit education through inadequate planning or free it by planning an educational program and building a physical facility which will serve the needs of students today and tomorrow," Wadleigh said.

Library Inadequate

He explained that currently the school's library is inadequate, particularly for resource materials and the use of audio-visual teaching aids.

All the classrooms in the central school are used 97 per cent each day, and one class meets in an old metal shop.

He said that 21 new classrooms should be added to adequately house the students now enrolled in the Central School.

Construction of a new high school will allow expansion of elementary and junior high school students into the old facility, he said.

This might mean renovation of part of the building, he pointed out, such as removal of walls to provide the flexible open air concept, separate library centers for junior high and elementary levels, and laboratories and storerooms.

Plans of the proposed school, drawn up by Thern Associates, Oshkosh, provide for a planetorium, commercial business and computer center, mezzanines for individual instruction, speech. English and language departments, social studies are as, science and math laboratories, and expanded agriculture department, music center theater, gymnasium, cafeteria, printing laboratory, special education instruction and possibly vocational department.

Individual department classrooms will be grouped in a semicircle with movable walls or equipment to provide classroom breakdown.

In this way, team teaching with large groups or lectures, or small classes could be taught.

Neenah Firms Drop Complaint Against Y For Chicago Shopping

NEENAH — Neenah Downtown Merchants Friday decided against sending a letter to the YWCA voicing their disapproval of the Y's sponsorship of a recent Chicago shopping trip.

Meeting at the Menasha Elks Club, the merchants agreed that it was a "bad move" by the YWCA to sponsor shopping trips out of the area.

However, James Smith, chairman, said that he preffer not to send a letter and the group decided not to make an issue of it.

Smith said he has called YWCA officials and voiced the group's concern over such a trip and said he thought that was sufficient.

In other action, the group voted to place paper bags over the parking meters as an indication that downtown parking was free dufing the Christmas season.

Burns Kittens Drop First Pin Game in New London League

NEW LONDON — Burns Little Kittens victory skein was snapped at 25 by Wieners Four in Saturday Night Couples loop action at Golden Hour Lanes.

The loss was the first of the season for Burns which holds a 26-1 record. Wieners Four is in second place with a 17-10 slate.

Larson's Bar regained undisputed first place in the Good Fellowship league Monday by sweeping three games from Georgia-Pacific.

Golden Hour Lanes knocked Manske's Bar from a share of the lead by taking one game of the three game set.

Menasha Tax Rate To Increase $10.85

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — A proposed city budget for 1969, containing a $10.85 net increase in the tax on each $1,000 worth of property at assessed value, went to the printers late Friday for official publication today.

But by the time the public budget hearing is held at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 17, the rate probably will have gone down about a dollar.

Harry Kind, former city clerk who prepared the budget as a special consultant this year, explained as he wound up his work at 7:30 p.m. Friday that last-minute budget cutting by the common council doesn't show up in the published figures.

As published, the budget calls for a gross tax rate of $64.39 on a $1,000-worth of property. Taxpayers, however, will pay $51.57, with the remaining $2.82 paid through state tax credit.

Last year, the rate paid by property owners was $50.72.

The total budget, including school district and general city purpose spending and state and county taxes is $6,643,692.

That is $722,206 higher than the present year's budget. Due to massive decreases in certain categories of revenue, however, property taxes are up $1,104,107, to a total of $3,821,293.

General city purpose spending represents the largest increase in taxes, accounting for an $8.36 jump, to $26.90.

While city-purpose spending itself is up only $105,139 over the present budget, non-property tax revenues are expected to drop about $900,000. That was the amount of a bond issue floated last year — which helped keep the tax rate down. This year, only $72,568 is proposed for bonding, out of a total capital outlay budget of $530,149. The rest goes on the tax rolls. Last year, the bond issue paid for all but $4,693 of the capital improvement program.

Another factor contributing to the proposed increase in the new levy is the decision to bank rather than spend tax revenues from property in the Banta and Schwarzbauer annexation areas. A special contingency fund is proposed, to hold an estimated $201,486 in taxes from the territory until the Wisconsin Supreme Court rules on a Town of Menasha appeal against the annexations.

The revenues in the special fund will only be those raised by the general city-purpose levy. The revenues from Menasha Joint School District, Vocational District 12, and state and county taxes will be applied for those purposes — helping avoid what might have been a tax increase $5.50 higher than the one proposed.

Once the Supreme Court ruling is received, the side that wins will receive the contents of the fund. City officials are counting heavily on a favorable ruling making the money available for various high-priority items that were deleted due to the realization that a substantial tax increase was inevitable even without them. Were the annexed-area funds available now, they could reduce the tax rate about $3.40.

At one point, officials were talking of using none of the proceeds from the annexed areas, even for public and vocational school, county and state taxes. At that time, Ald. William Erickson, chairman of the common council finance committee, issued a list of proposed increases which, when applied against taxable property excluding the annexed areas, worked out to a tax increase of roughly $20.

Since then, numerous items on Erickson's preliminary list have been shaved severely and the decision made to use some of the annexed area revenues.

Besides the tax levy for general city purposes, the budget proposal includes a school tax rate of $27.75, still the largest single category, up $2.58 from last year; county and state taxes, down 2 cents to $7.51, and vocational district levy, unchanged at $2.23.

The school tax will produce $1,647,000 in revenues, a $456,000 increase. Town of Menasha property owners in the school district will provide an additional $458,468, a decrease from last year's sum of $572,460. The reduction is due to the town's loss of taxable property to the city in the annexations.

The city will provide about $420,000 in taxes to the state this year, and $26,000 to the county. The vocational school levy of $132,000 is up about $20,000 from last year, but the increase is nearly identical to the assessed value growth.

Among items made public for the first time in the proposed budget is $73,115 for expected salary increases for city personnel, including members of unions currently still engaged in negotiations with the city.

Social Worker Cites Shortage

Nursing Home Limited Care Service Needed

OSHKOSH — In Winnebago County there are 775 beds for the elderly and chronically ill today, more than twice the number available three years ago, but a shortage of limited care facilities exits.

Dan Mc Arthur, Winnebago County social worker, who handles the nursing care requirements for medical assistance recipients said today, "We do have an adequate number of beds in skilled care nursing homes, with 490 beds in private homes, 220 beds at Pleasant Acres and 29 at Sunnyview. However, there are only 36 beds available for limited nursing care."

The county health and social services department uses approximately 50 per cent of the 775 available beds. Most of them are required for senior citizens, eligible under one of the aids program. The remainder are required for chronically ill and disabled persons under 65 years of age.

Homes for skilled nursing care, which includes Family Heritage Home, Neenah; Bethel Home, Evergreen, Marian Home, Oak Manor Nursing Home and Sweet Nursing Home, Oshkosh are approved for medical assistance, Medicare, or both. Each has a registered nurse in charge of patient care and the average patient cost is $420 per month.

There is a waiting list for admittance to most of these homes. At Evergreen Manor, which is a retirement home. 50 infirmary beds are provided with skilled nursing care which are eligible for the Social Security Medicare program, but the beds for the most part are being used by its residents.

Winnebago County's new Pleasant Acres has 220 beds and it is expected to reach capacity by the first of the year.

Menasha's Sunset Home, a limited care facility with 36 beds, provides only limited nursing care, with a licensed trained practical nurse in charge of patient care. Limited care costs approximately $200 per month.

All persons in need of skilled nursing care and are eligible under the medical assistance program, must apply for admittance through the health and social services department. A person's private insurance and medicare benefits must be used, according to Mc Arthur, before medical assistance takes over payment.

Personal Care

A third classification for nursing home care, personal care, is not being offered in the county. This is designed for the person who needs medical supervision but is able for the most part to take care of himself.

"We do have an adult foster care program in the county now," Mc Arthur explained. "There is a similarity in level of care and supervision between this and a personal care nursing home, which may explain the minimum need for personal care."

Site Preparation is Underway on a seven-acre plot on Midway Road near the Fox Valley University Center for a $1 million nursing home. The building will contain 32,000 square feet and will have a capacity of 117 beds. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Christmas Concert Set At Conant

NEENAH — The music department of Conant Junior High School will present its annual Christmas Concert at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school gymnasium.

The program will include selections by each of the seven music groups at the school, according to Neal Widder and Mrs. Eleanore Blobaum, music instructors.

With the theme of Christmas Music Through the Ages," the concert will provide songs and carols from various periods in history.

The concert string orchestra will be assisted by a group of wind instrument players from the concert band.

Neenah PTA Will Hear Safety Program Report

NEENAH — A report on a safety program for children will be presented to the Neenah Parent Teacher Association (PTA) council at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Conant Junior High School.

The council had named a special committee to review the merits of both Appleton's Blue Star and Oshkosh's Block Parent programs, designed to provide a home where an elementary child could seek refuge if he was lost, hurt, scared or harassed.

Winnebago State Hospital

Alcoholic Unit Sets Open House

WINNEBAGO — An open house will be held at the Winnebago State Hospital Alcoholic Treatment Unit, from 1 to 3 p.m., Monday, in conjunction with the seminar featuring Dr. John L. Norris.

"Dr. Norris will center his remarks on local alcoholism programs — from concept to reality in the seminar which opens at 3 p.m. in the Food Services Building and we hope that professionals, those who work with alcoholism and its multi-faceted problems, as well as the public will attend both," Dr. Darold A. Treffert, superintendent, commented in announcing the program.

"It should correct a number of wrong images for many, when they see our modern treatment facilities and the program we have at WSH," Dr. Mary Kubiak, who heads the unit, added.

"During the patient's stay with us he or she receives a balanced program of individual care and group programming," she explained. "We make every effort to help the patient better understand himself, his illness and his rightfull role in society."

Important Phase

The hospital is now structuring another important phase of the total treatment of the alcoholic. It is expected to be the answer to what happens to him or her when released from the hospital.

Dr. George Lysloff, assistant clinical director, who heads the alcoholism treatment team has begun a program of research and education, intended to bring the total community into providing proper after-care and rehabilitation.

"The open house will be an opportunity for us to show the public and professionals what is being done," Dr. Lysloff said. "Dr. Norris' visit and discussion should be invaluable in moving along on the Winnebago County plan for services."

90 Patients

At present there are 90 patients, 20 of them women, undergoing treatment on the unit located in Hughes Hall.

In the three years it has been operating a number of changes have been made to better fill the needs of alcoholics and getting them to proper treatment, including direct admissions, a co-ed program and continual research.

The average length of stay on the unit is six weeks. This past year the monthly admissions have averaged 60 men and women.

Youth Who Helped Parolee Flee Is Fined Total of $150

Marvin Roberts, 19, Woodlane Drive, New London, was fined a total of $150 and costs or 37 days in jail Thursday after pleading guilty to two disorderly conduct charges.

He had been charged with siding and encouraging a parolee, Gerald Mogulski, also of New London to abscond on Sept. 21. The charge was amended to disorderly conduct at the request of Richard Hamilton, assistant district attorney.

Shiocton Police Chief Michael Reyes said that he took Mogulski into custody at the Portlite Bar. Mogulski broke free and jumped into a car driven by Roberts, who sped away. Reyes said a chase of more than 100 miles per hour ensued, but ended when Roberts' car struck a utility pole near Shiocton. The youths then fled on foot across a field.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer fined Roberts $100 on that disorderly count.

The other $50 fine was imposed after Roberts changed his plea to guilty on a disorderly count stemming from a disturbance with Outagamie County police in Shiocton in September.

Roberts reportedly was in a car involved in a hit and run accident. He became abusive while police were investigating the mishap.

Stockbridge High To Stage Annual Yule Concert

STOCKBRIDGE — "Old English Concert" is the theme chosen by director Norbert Franz for the annual high school Christmas Concert, scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday.

The concert will feature numbers by the Girl's Glee Club, the mixed chorus and band. Music will have an English flavor and includes carols, balads, and popular holiday songs.

Gail Goeser and Mrs. Gilbert Schoen will serve as accompanists and Michael Thiel the narrator.

During intermission and after the concert the high school Music Association will conduct a Christmas gift and decoration sale with proceeds going towards the purchase of instruments for the band.

Early Morning Fire Damages Rural Oshkosh Supper Club

OSHKOSH — A fire early Saturday at Josef's Supper Club, located at the intersection of State 175 and U.S. 45 several miles south of here, caused an undetermined amount of damage.

Members of the Van Dyne Fire Department responded to the alarm which was telephoned to the sheriff's office at 4:30 a.m. by an unidentified woman.

County police reported that the fire itself was confined to, on and around the bar but that the entire building suffered major damage from smoke and water. Fireman reportedly had to break through a side door of the building in order to reach the blaze.

Rule Monday On Readmitting Black Students

Federal Court Judge Promises Quick Action

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A federal judge will decide by Monday noon whether suspended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh black students will be readmitted to the university immediately pending the outcome of their disciplinary hearings.

Federal Judge James Doyle, Friday, agreed that the matter must be handled with haste after hearing arguments by both sides.

He will rule on a motion for a temporary restraining order to block the state university from barring the students from classes until after any guilt has been determined.

Claim Discrimination

The hearing, sought by attorneys for the suspended black students, saw:

—Black lawyers for the students suggest discrimination in that only black students were suspended after the Nov. 21 vandalism spree. Both black and white students were involved, the students' lawyers claimed.

—Lawyers for the board of regents of state universities admit that suspensions were made for punishment as well as for public safety.

—Admissions that WSU-O president Roger Guiles did not see all of the acts committed for which the group has been suspended by Guiles.

—Suggestions that a U.S. Court in Madison should not substitute its judgement for the judgement responsibilities of campus administrators.

Premeditation Charged

Atty. Percy L. Julian Jr., representing students and the Wisconsin Civil Liberties Union, suggested the discrimination existed.

Emmett L. Wingert, replied for the board that no discrimination had taken place and that only students arrested had been suspended.

He claimed that the destruction of Guiles' office was part of a "premeditated conspiracy" and claimed that those taking part in the demonstration had violated a host of state laws.

The university, Wingert explained, believes that all taking part in such acts share responsibility although all may not have been equally destructive.

Citis Tensions

Wingert stated that Guiles knew only one of the students destroying materials in his office and did not see all of the destruction taking place.

It would not be safe to readmit the black students until campus tentions have cooled said Wingert, but he also admitted that the suspensions were made as a form of punishment.

'Your power would break down entirely unless you can make some assumptions as to guilt," he told Doyle.

"The loss of a few weeks for these students must be balanced against the learning of a very valuable lesson—that in this country this kind of behavior is not tolerated," he said.

"I think that a college has to show once in a while that it is not to be trifled with."

Would End Careers

Julian and Attorney Lloyd Barbee, a Democratic assemblyman from Milwaukee, argued that the suspensions would probably end the college careers of most of the students.

Most are disadvantaged freshmen, the court was told. If the students miss many more classes their chances for academic progress will be small, the lawyers argued. Even if innocent, the hearings for all students will not end for several months, the men argued. And with existing selective service laws the students probably will be drafted soon unless they are re-admitted to classes, they warned.

Hilbert Woman Gets Probation for Theft Of Sweater, Purse

Mrs. Loretta Stahl, 26, 26 N. Fourth St., Hilbert, was placed on one year probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services Friday afternoon after she pleaded guilty of stealing an infant's sweater and a child's purse from K Mart Oct. 26.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer also ordered Mrs. Stahl to pay court costs.

Allows Half-Year Budget

Mayor Cuts Welfare Funds; Predicts County Takeover

Mayor George Buckley said Friday he expects Outagamie County to take over the city's welfare department operations before the end of 1969.

The proposed executive cuty budget for 1969, prepared bu Buckley, only has funds budgeted to July 1 for city welfare operations.

However, Buckley said funds for the other six months of 1969 are being placed in the contingency fund and earmarked for the city welfare department in case the transfer to the county is not made.

Director Miffed

Merton Ehricke, city relief director, said he was never consulted by the mayor or anyone else on the proposal to transfer the city operations or on the budget cut.

Ehricke said he learned about both of Buckley's actions by reading the newspaper.

He called the budget cut "arbitrary,".

Ehricke has maintained that he can manage the city department much more efficiently than the much larger county department.

Asked about his plans for his department, he merely said, "I'm sticking to my guns."

Buckley's budget indicates $13,272 for welfare administration instead of the requested $27,244, and $32,925 for relief services instead of the $65,850 requested.

Asked Informally

"I have every reason to believe the county will take over the welfare operations," the mayor said. He added that it would "take just a simple resolution of the county board" to make the transfer.

Buckley approached the county's welfare board several months ago with the proposal on an informal basis. At that time, Al Eggert, county social services director, indicated his department would be capable of handling the city cases if the county board so desired.

However, welfare board members said they have had no further contact with the city on the proposal, and it has not been discussed in committee.

County officials also indicated they do not plan to proceed any further unless a formal request is received from the city.

Await Lawmakers

Both the county and city apparently are also waiting to learn the fate of state legislation which would reimburse counties for 50 per cent of additional welfare administrative costs where a county takes over welfare functions from all local communities in the county.

There appears to be little likelihood that other local communities in the county would be willing to give up their welfare programs without a fight, however.

When the Appleton proposal was first made, several villages and towns filed petitions with the county board objecting to any county takeover of the local programs.

Illinois Wants Its Patrol Car Home Again

Anyone spotting a light green 1968 Plymouth four-door sedan with Illinois license number 5-2 should call the nearest police agency immediately.

The car belongs to the Illinois State Police, and they would like to have the auto back.

All law agencies in Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Missouri, and Wisconsin were alerted by police teletype Friday that the unmarked state patrol car was stolen from Calumet City, Ill., about 4 a.m. Friday.

The message also wants that there is a loaded shotgun and shells in the trunk.

Juvenile Officer Hiring to be Aired At Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — The feasibility of naming a juvenile officer for the police department, as requested by Police Chief Harold V. Engerson, will be discussed at a meeting of the public protection and safety committee at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

The chief requested a special officer to handle the increasing number of juvenile cases and much of the typing and office work required in the department. This would free the jlieutenant, who currently handles juvenile problems, for other investigative duties.

A report also will be given on a traffic study and discussion held on the adoption of a loitering ordinance.

The personnel committee of the council will meet at 7 p.m. Monday to discuss wage adjustments for salaried personnel and continue negotiations the City Employes Local 130 on contract terms for the coming year.

$14 Reported Missing In Apartment Burglary

About $14 was taken during a burglary late Friday night or early today at the Leonard Wohlrabe apartment, 927 E. Eldorado St.

Wohlrabe, who reported the burglary to Appleton police at 1:20 a.m. today, said that $4 was taken from his wallet and $10 was missing from a bank in the bedroom. The apartment door was left unlocked, police were told.

Firemen Answer Alarm, Find Rubbish Burning

What was reported as a possible building fire about 9:10 p.m. Friday at the I. Bahcall Co., turned out to be a rubbish fire in the yard. Firemen responded to the alarm with five units.

At 4 p.m., firemen went to the Art Brower home, 1885 S. Tuleiah Ave., when an electrical unit burned out in an oven.

Meter Maid Hospitalized After Crash

An Appleton Police Department meter maid was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital about 9:45 a.m. today with injuries she suffered when the small, three-wheel vehicle she was operating struck the rear of a car on Midway Street, behind the H. C. Prange Co.

Mrs. Lloyd Braun, 1127 W. Eighth St., a meter maid for four years, suffered apparent chest and rib injuries, although the exact nature of the injuries had not been determined as of late this morning. She was undergoing x-rays at the hospital. Larry's Ambulance answered the call.

Police said she apparently was injured when she was hurled against the steering wheel of the small police department vehicle, which is used by the meter maids to enforce parking regulations.

Mrs. Braun reportedly was following a car which stopped suddenly in front of her. Investigation into the accident is continuing. Damage to both vehicles was minor.

Kaukauna Art Class To Recess for Holidays

KAUKAUNA — Parents of students enrolled in the recreation department sponsored art classes are to arrange transportation for their youngsters on Dec. 14 when the students will bring home all projects completed to date, according to Mrs. Roger Belling, instructor.

No classes are scheduled Dec. 21 and 28, but the regular weekly meetings will resume on Jan. 4, said Mrs. Belling.

Knowles, Agnew in Accord On Lagging Federal Aids

Less Complicated, More Stable Programs Needed In Assisting States

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Wisconsin Gov. Warren P. Knowles, struck a responsive chord at the Republican Governor's Conference Friday when, in one of the principal speeches of the day, he complained about the fickle and uncertain fiscal relations of the national government with the states.

As one of the state leaders chosen to review problems in federal state relations, he promptly got the assurance of vice president Elect Spiro Agnew that the in-coming Republican Administration will strive for a fiscal policy toward state governments of more stability and less complexity.

As the program was organized, Agnew was the first of the principal speakers Friday. He was followed by Knowles and others but Knowles had distributed his own speech in advance, and it was strikingly similar to the remarks of Agnew, who is the retiring Governor of Maryland. Like the Wisconsin state executive, Agnew complained that the federal government makes too many promises of money grants to the state that it does not keep, that there are too many strings atached, and that too often the states are required to stretch their resources to continue programs Washington has begun, but on which it defaults later.

Frequent Pattern

Knowles asserted that a too frequent pattern of federal-state programs starts with the announcement of the new service by Washington, state commitments to meet cooperative requirements, a failure of the federal government to follow through with declared cost-sharing intentions, political criticism of the state leaders for the failures that result, and finally, financially difficult attempts by the states to make up money deficits.

The Wisconsin governor recently elected to a third term spoke in general terms, but he could have offered examples of federal government financial defaults on enacted federal-state programs, and notably in the field of water pollution control.

The state is now getting only a dribble of the money from Washington that involved in the planning of the state's boarder Clean Waters Act of 1965.

The Knowles Administration became a "target of political criticism," and it is now committed to supporting a hugh state bonding program to provide money immediately for the water pollution prevention and abatement work which the people of Wisconsin and their state legislators have shown they want.

Friendly Speech

That Agnew should have made such a friendly and conciliatory speech to the Republican state governors was natural on the basis of his own background and partisan commitment.

But he was unusually positive in his pledges for sympathetic treatment of state administrations as he related that President-Elect Nixon has designated him as his state affairs liaison man to "break the communications barrier" between the state and national capitals.

Noting that he will be the first member of "the executive team" in Washington in more than two decades who has had state executive experience (presumably refering to the late President Roosevelt, who came to the White House from the governorship of New York) Agnew indicated that the new administration may attempt to eliminate or reduce the maze of more than 400 federal categorical grant laws, and turn to the block grant plan as more suited to the widely differing needs and desires of the states. The Block grant plan is favored by many Republicans in the Congress.

Handle Patronage

In a news conference following the closed session of Agnew and the governors, the vice-president-elect announced that Nixon has invited Republican statehouse executives to transmit their proposals for federal patronage appointments through him.

A spokesman for Knowles said that it is unlikely that he will involve himself in such matters. Earlier Knowles had informally agreed with Ody Fish, the Wisconsin GOP chairman, and John Maciver of Milwaukee, the Nixon campaign manager in the state last fall, that they would deal with such patronage concerns as the Wisconsin Party may have in the new national administration.

Nixon New Urban Program Puzzles City Administrators

Congress of Cities to Hear Agnew Discuss Current Problems

By William C. Carey
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW ORLEANS, LA. — How will the Nixon Administration handle urban problems, and what does the future hold for exisiting federal aid programs geared toward helping cities?

The two-fold question appears to be utmost in the minds of city officials from across the country who arrived here today for the opening of the 45th annual Congress of Cities.

Nine committee meetings were scheduled today as the more than 3,000 mayors, city councilmen and other municipal officials, got down to business.

Agnew to Speak

President-elect Richard Nixon had been invited sometime ago to address the entire delegate assembly Monday and possibly provide answers to some questions hanging over his new administration.

However, Nixon said he had a conflicting engagement and was sending Vice President-Elect Spiro Agnew to take his place.

During the presidential campaign Nixon said Agnew would oversee his administration's urban program.

Delegates are hoping Agnew may shed light on what policies the new administration will adopt or follow in assisting cities, large and small, with multi-complexed problems.

In the meantime, Congress delegates will participate in a series of workshops, panel discussions and hear other prominent speakers, along with coming up with the primary product — a 1969 national municipal policy — to be aimed at influencing legislation in the U. S. Congress as well as the state level.

Grass Roots Platform

"This policy will be the grass roots platform of city officials and the National League of Cities in Washington as the Nixon Administration and the 91st Congress begin their work," commented Mayor James Tat, Philadelphia, National League of Cities (NCC) president.

Much of the policy base will be forged during the weekend sessions.

Policy positions on such controversial subjects as revenue sharing the need for national urbanization policy and improved law enforcement will be introduced at the resolutions committee meeting Sunday, and debated finally by all delegates at the closing business session Wednesday afternoon.

Based on steering committee reports, debate will center around current topical matters existing in practically every community in the country. For example:

Discussion Subjects

Revenue and Finance — A specific revenue sharing proposal for channeling federal revenues to states and cities, based on a formula involving per capita payments and tax effort, will be introduced. And abuses of using public credit (industrial revenue bonds) for the support of industrial development will be aired.

Intergovernmental relations — The NLC delegates will be asked to oppose outright bloc grants to the states which turn city program discretion "over to uncertain state response".

Transportation — A federal trust fund, similar to the high-

Parents to Deal With Tipsy Teen

A 16-year-old northside youth who told police he slipped into the garage at his home and drank a half pint of brandy Friday night, was released to his parents after questioning by detectives.

The boy was taken to the police station from a teen-age dance about 10:30, when he appeared to be intoxicated.

A detective's report indicated "...the parents will take proper measures to prevent further occurrences."

Joint Venture

Course Sought to Cut Industrial Accidents

Industrial accidents cost Wisconsin firms more than $64 million in 1967 and safety councils in the Fox Cities hope to do something about it.

The individual safety councils, at a joint meeting Friday noon at the Left Guard Charcoal House, formed an outline for an industrial safety training program for the area. The course, which will train plant safety directors, will be handled by the Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12).

Program officers elected Friday were Robert Ison, Neenah, chairman, and Mrs. Jean Reubold, Menasha, vice chairman.

Ison is safety director of Kimberly-Clark Corporation, Neenah, and Mrs. Reubold is an American Can Company indistrial nurse in Menasha.

12 Sessions

The officers will be aided by Charles Collins VTE-12 safety coordinator.

The 12-session program is jointly sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Safety, National Safety Council, Department of Industry, Labor and Human relations and VTE-12.

The Greater Appleton Area Safety Council, Outagamie County Safety Council, Twin Cities Safety Council and Oshkosh Safety Council will participate in the program.

Council officials were asked by Collins to recommend members to teach classes. "We want the best people in the Fox River Valley to teach these sessions," said Collins.

Two-Hour Classes

The two-hour classes will be conducted at technical institutes in Appleton, Neenah, and Oshkosh.

The course outlines basic accident prevention including safety objectives, general plant hazards, fire prevention, electrical hazards, health hazards, accident investigations, employe training, protective equipment, a session for teachers on how to hold the interest of students, first aid, and workmen's compensation. An awards banquet will conclude the program.

James Merrill, president of the the Greater Appleton Area Safety Council, proposed training classes for Fox Cities forklift operators.

Collins said a lift-truck training course is under way at the Oshkosh Technical Institute and may be started in Appleton.

The VTE-12 safety programs also include defensive driving courses.

One Injury In 3-Car Mishap on N. Richmond

Betty M. Drace, 124 Abbey Ave., Neenah, complained of a neck whiplash following a three-car chain reaction accident about 6:25 p.m. Friday in the 200 block of N. Richmond Street.

The cars, all of which were northbound on Richmond, were driven by Larry A. Hansen, 21, 827½ W. Packard St.; Miss Drace; and Mary A. Feldmann, 712 N. Harriman St.

The Feldmann car struck the rear of the Drace car which was stopped behind Hansen.

Prisoner Sent to Hospital After Suffering Stroke

A 58-year-old Appleton man who was being held in the Outagamie County Jail while awaiting trial on two forgery counts, suffered a paralyzing stroke in his cell early today.

Edmund H. Draeger, who lives at the Stokely Van Camp labor settlement on Casaloma Drive, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital after a doctor examined him at the jail about 12:10 a.m. Authorities said Draeger's left side was paralyzed.

Draeger has been in jail since Oct. 31, under $1,000 bond. He is to stand trial Jan. 27 for two counts of issuing forged checks.

Oneida Woman Denies Slapping Passenger After Auto Accident

Margaret John, 57, route 1, Oneida, pleaded innocent in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon to a disorderly conduct charge brought by Siiri Dobbins, route 1, Oneida, following an auto accident Nov. 23.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer set trial for Feb. 12 and Mrs. John was released on a $50 bond.

Mrs. Dobbins, who brought the complaint, alleged that Mrs. John slapped her face after the car Mrs. John was in struck the rear of the Dobbins car on Second Ridge Road in the Town of Oneida about 9 a.m. Nov. 23. The accident resulted in minor damage.

'Didn't Heed Past Recommendations'

Buckley Won't Offer School Budget Cuts

Mayor George Buckley has once again refused to tell the school board what items can be cut from its budget to accomplish his proposed $1 million expenditure cut.

But, in a letter to Charles Buchanan, president of the Appleton board of education Friday, he questioned whether pupil-teacher ratio of 25 to one might not be reasonable.

The mayor also declined Buchanan's request for comments on new teachers' salary requests for the fall of 1969, and again called for a halt in negotiations until the budget is adopted.

No Intention

On Monday Buchanan challenged the mayor to "answer the one big question which you have been avoiding all fall ..how do you recommend we cut $1 million from the Appleton school budget?"

The mayor said he had "no intention" of giving such recommendations.

The city council's school budget committee in the past two years carefully examined the school budget and made recommendations for cuts, he told Buchanan. "I don't recall that any of the suggestions were followed."

Buckley said he had been "most liberal" in allowing the increase in budgeted school expenditures to exceed 10 per cent.

"As it is your budget, and you are most familiar with it, I'm sure that the $1 million necessary to cut will be found with the greatest of ease."

Buchanan had asked the mayor whether he supported the suggestion of Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman and a member of the fiscal control board, that each teacher handle four more students in the coming year in order to cut down staff additions.

Buckley said he understood that Kampo had recommended a teacher-pupil ratio of 25 to one. "Does this seem unreasonable?" the mayor asked.

Kampo's resolution did not necessariiy intend to apply a pupil-teacher ratio of 25 to one in all existing classes, but to use that ratio as the basis for hiring new professional school employes. He said Frday that he couldn't tell what the existing ratio is because school and city officials had used a number of figures.

No Further Comment

"But if you have 200 new students, then you should only hire eight new professionals," Kampo added. He maintains that the ratio should be held steady, and claimed it has decreased over the past several years.

Since he had not received formal notification of Kampo's proposal, the mayor said he could not comment further.

Buckley cited a possible violation of proper negotiation practices as his reason for not commenting on teachers' salary requests,. "It might be construed as an unfair labor practice for me to comment during negotiations," he said.

Buchanan also had asked the mayor if he approved of a reported suggestion by Ald. John Steidl, chairman of the council's school advisory committee, that the budget cut be supported by deficit financing if it proved impossible to cut that amount from operating expenses.

Buckley said he had not been notified in writing of Steidl's suggestion, but said he had referred the question to David Champion, city finance director, "since it refers to finance."
